THE STATE.

Estimated Majorities.

The result in the State is yet in doubt, as the meagre returns received from the interior yesterday indicate a falling off in the heavy Democratic majorities reported on Friday night, and the official count may further reduce them. Subjoined will be found the estimated majorities in forty-three counties—two-thirds of the State—which show a Democratic majority of 901. The twenty-three counties to be heard from gave a Republican majority last October of more than one thousand, but it is scarcely probable that they have done any better this year than other counties of the State:

Pennsylvania Legislature.

Sufficient returns have been received to indicate that the next Legislature of Pennsylvania will be Republican. The Democrats have gained probably seven members of the House, which will leave a Republican majority of ten. The Republican majority in the Senate, it is claimed, will be nine, the same as last session, although the Blair county district is in doubt.

The Result in Ohio.

A special dispatch received at midnight from a reliable Republican source in Columbus, informs us that the Democrats have elected a majority of the members in both branches of the Ohio Legislature, thus securing the election of a Democratic United States Senator in place of Senator Wade. The vote for Governor is yet in doubt, with the chances in favor of General Hayes, the Union nominee.

Mrs. Lincoln.

The Chicago Journal says: Regarding the prevailing gossip in reference to the "poverty" of Mrs. Lincoln, we have it from a very authentic source that a representative of his estate, shortly after the death of Mr. Lincoln, found on deposit in one of the departments in Washington the sum of $75,000 in Government securities to the credit of the ex-President. In addition to this, Congress voted to Mrs. Lincoln $25,000, and when Mr. Lincoln left Springfield for Washington, to enter upon the Presidency, he informed his friends that his Springfield property was at that time worth about $10,000. In view of these facts, the recent statements in the New York papers become the more astounding.

THE LARGEST WELL IN OILDOM.—The Titusville Herald says: For some time past progress of the new well on lease No. 21, on the side hill of the Benninghoff Farm, opposite Funkville, has attracted considerable attention, as it was known that it was located in a good producing locality. On Saturday last it was pumped for the first time, when it became evident that it would prove to be a large producing well. It commenced to produce oil on Saturday afternoon, and the production steadily increased until it produced by measurement fully two hundred and fifty barrels per day. This is now the largest producing well in oildom, or anywhere else.

LATE NEWS.

General Prim, Spanish revolutionist, has arrived in New York and will go to Washington in a few days to lay his Cuba seizure plan before Secretary Seward.

A petition asking Congress to impeach and remove Andrew Johnson is being circulated in New York. General Sigel is one of the signers; so is Wendell Phillips, General Walbridge, Wm. C. Bryant and Henry Ward Beecher.

The Common Council of Buffalo having by a party vote refused to invite General Sheridan to visit the city on his way to St. Louis, Mayor Wells has called a meeting of citizens for Friday evening to extend the hospitalities to him.

At a meeting of the Soldiers and Sailors' Union, held in Washington, Tuesday night, a resolution of thanks was voted Gen. Grant for the just and proper discrimination in honor of the soldier that he has made in the reduction of the force under his control.

It is reported that a large number of national banks in the country have joined in with the whisky dealers in the effort to displace Secretary McCulloch, their object being to prevent the early return to specie payment, as indicated by the Secretary's policy.

A Washington dispatch says: The evening administration organ here announces that the meeting for the ratification of the nomination of Andrew Johnson, for President, and Gen. Wm. T. Sherman, for Vice President, which was appointed for the 10th inst., has been postponed until the 18th prox., when it will be held in the Capitol.

Dispatches from Fort Harker say Superintendent Murphy, under date Medicine Lodge Creek, October 5th, writes that there are now assembled at that point four hundred and thirty-one lodges of Indians. Of these one hundred and seventy-one lodges are Arapahoes, eighty-five Apaches, one hundred and fifty Kiowas and twenty-five Cheyennes. There are 300 Cheyenne lodges now moving in. One hundred are encamped below, where twenty-one lodges will be pitched. Total, eight hundred and fifty lodges, averaging six persons each, or about five thousand Indians. There was some trouble in getting access to the hostile Cheyennes, and Col. Butterfield was shot at and lost his horse and pistols. The mission so far is considered a great success. The Indians are now said to be anxious for peace.

STATE ITEMS.

R. W. West, a brakeman on the Atlantic and Great Western Railway, fell from a freight train near Corry on Friday, and was killed. He was a very worthy young man.

A fire on Saturday night destroyed two buildings in Reading. No insurance.

At an early hour on Saturday morning last John Magruder, one of the brakemen on an extra freight train on the Warren and Franklin Railroad, was run over and killed near the depot at Oil City. It seems that while attempting to set one of the brakes, he fell to the track and several cars passed over him.

The proprietors of the coal shaft recently sunk in Washington county, are providing themselves with additional facilities for pumping water and otherwise making permanent arrangements for mining on a large scale.

John Letherman, an old citizen of Washington county, died at West Bethlehem, on the 20th ult, aged seventy-nine years. During the war of 1812 he served his country as a private under Captain Vance, and did good service at Black Rock, Buffalo, Niagara, &c. He died from a complication of diseases, yet bore his sufferings patiently.

The petition for Commandery of Knight Templars and the appendant Orders to be stationed in Erie, has been approved by the R. E. Sir Jeremiah L. Hutchinson, of Philadelphia, Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of the State of Pennsylvania. The new Commandery will be known as Mount Olivet Commandery No. 30, and will be constituted by the officers of the Grand Commandery sometime during the present month.

Victor M. Thompson, a well known oil merchant of Erie, was murderously assaulted on Friday night, while returning to his residence from the depot in that city. The object of the assault was robbery, but the villain did not get much for the risk he undertook.

Thomas Lemmon, a livery stable keeper of Erie, on Thursday last hired out a buggy and team, since when they have not been heard of. The horses are, a roan pony and a chestnut mare. The latter has a bob-tail, white hind feet and is blind in the left eye. The buggy is a charlotee, provided with lap robes and a buffalo robe lined with red. The occupants were George Blessing and a girl whom he represented as his wife (but who is since known as a girl of ill-repute), a young fellow calling himself Frank Graham, and a girl (probably like the first mentioned) who claimed to be his sister. Frank Graham is supposed to hail from Pittsburgh. The entire rig was worth between $500 and $600. The couple may have come in this direction.

THE ELECTION EXCITEMENT.

CABINET TO BE REMODELED.

Secretary Seward Certainly to Go Out and Possibly Secretary M'Culloch.

Lieut. Gen. Sherman and the President.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, October 9, 1867.

The Elections.

The excitement to-day over the election is even greater than on yesterday and last night. The news from Ohio was wholly unexpected here by both parties, and rolls up in such an immense majority against the Constitutional Amendment as to cause the greatest possible rejoicing among the Conservatives. The newspaper offices were crowded till daylight, and to-day and to-night have been overflowing. Such an interest was never manifested in an election since the Presidential election of 1860. The hotels and Departments have presented busy scenes, while the sporting fraternity have been excited over the loss of large sums on the result in Ohio. The President has been in the constant receipt of dispatches, and there was general jubilation at the White House. A serenade will be tendered to-morrow night.

The Cabinet.

There seems to be high administration authority for telegraphing that the President will proceed at once to remodel the administration. Secretary Seward certainly, and Secretary McCulloch possibly, are expected to go. Senator Reverdy Johnson came over from Baltimore to-night, and it is understood can have the State Department if he desires. Erastus Corning and Tom Ewing are mentioned most prominently for the Treasury Department.

The President and Sherman.

Some parties attach considerable significance to another protracted conference which Gen. Sherman had with the President to-day.

Hon. J. K. Moorhead.

Representatives Spalding, of Ohio, and Moorhead, of Pennsylvania, and General Schofield arrived to-night, and are the centers of attraction in political discussions in the hotels to-night.

THE LINCOLN MONUMENT.

The Washington Lincoln Monument Association closed to-day for a monument of white marble, height thirty-six feet, including a statue of Lincoln eight feet high, of Italian marble. On the 11th ult. there was an attempt at revolution in Arequipa, Peru. After twenty-two hours it was suppressed. Fifty were killed and many wounded. Two boxes of needle guns, supposed to be for the rebels, had been seized.

ROME.

Situation from the English Standpoint.

The French View.

[From the London Times, September 28.]

The Roman question may be stated in the simplest terms. The great ruler of Italian destinies, Napoleon III., has set limits to that national movement to which he gave the first impulse. If those limits are over-stepped it can only be with his knowledge and consent, and his connivance may either be the result of policy or of necessity. Garibaldi is but one man. Committed as he now is, he may attack the Papal See single-handed, taking his chance of a second Aspromonte, and may either make good his boast that he will go to Rome by entering it as a conqueror or by being conveyed as a captive to the Castle St. Angelo. Garibaldi himself has proclaimed that he goes to Rome not hoping to conquer, but determined to die. Italy, he thinks, can only be redeemed by sacrifice. It was the martyrdom of the Bandiera and Pisacane that brought Garibaldi to Naples as an avenger. Let Garibaldi's blood flow in its turn, it will equally work out the deliverance of Rome. The chances of Garibaldi's success can lie only in the defection either of the Papal or of the Royal troops. After M. Rattazzi's declaration, it would hardly seem possible for Garibaldi to reckon on the secret favor of the Italian Government. It is true that the experience of the last ten years has tended to create a general scepticism as to the value of official proclamations. People are always afraid of a minister who may seem to "protest too much." The whole contingency hangs on a long chain, of which the Emperor Napoleon holds the first link. The present position is not greatly dissimilar from that of 1860, when Cialdini was burning to cross the modern Rubicon at La Cattolica. The Imperial veto, merely a moral, yet a most efficient barrier, checked Italian ardor on the frontiers of the Marches and Umbria. That barrier was over-stepped, but only when Napoleon, stultifying his diplomatic and consular agents at Rome and Ancona, had tapped Cialdini on the shoulder at Chambery, with his memorable advice, "Frappez fort et frappez vite." In the same manner, if at the present moment the Emperor Napoleon were to give a hint to Rattazzi, and that Minister should transmit the signal to his commanding officers on the borders, Garibaldi might find the ground smoothed before him, and might appear before the Porta del Popoli at the head of a force both of his own red shirts and of the King's Bersaglieri sufficient to persuade the native Papal troops to fraternize, and the foreign mercenaries to withdraw or surrender. But if, as seems more probable, the Emperor of the French looks upon the September Convention as final and inviolable, and if M. Rattazzi, as he stoutly affirms, deems the honor of the nation bound to the observance of "international stipulations"—if "stick won't beat dog, and dog won't bite pig," the hero of Marsala has no more chance of ousting the Pope than the old woman in the child's doggerel had of reaching home in the evening. Whether tacitly or explicitly, the word that would give Rome to Italy must come from the same quarter which gave Bologna and Ancona; and on the other hand, the "so far and no farther" would be sufficient, were it only well proved that it was spoken in earnest.

It would, however, be by no means safe to argue the future course of the Imperial policy from its precedents. Napoleon was a born foe to the temporal power. He has been too long convinced that it is impossible to save it by reforms not to look upon its final downfall as a mere question of time. And it is precisely because he is so thoroughly convinced of the approaching natural death of the Papacy that he is loth to disturb it. By depriving it of the revenue accruing to it from the possession of the Legations and the Marches he has virtually signed its death warrant; by withdrawing his garrisons he has left it for execution. He has thus performed his own part of the melancholy duty, and left the rest to the Roman people, to time, and to the "logic of events." Had the matter depended on him alone, and had the Romans, with or without the help of their Italian brethren, broken through their bonds, and put an end to the Papal Sovereignty, he might have shrugged his shoulders, and accepted the faits accomplis, as he did after a very successive breach of the Treaty of Villafranca. But he had to reckon with France and to at least affect to support the tottering Pontificial throne, even while he removed one prop after another. He had little reason to treat very tenderly that priestly party which had made the Court of the Vatican into a nest of Legitimist conspiracy, and which, had its power been commensurate with its ill will, would have turned against Paris that crusade which it reached against Turin or Florence. But his mind was made up, and he thought he had brought matters to a point which allowed him henceforth to limit his policy to an observant attitude. The Pope was old, and the Papacy bankrupt. Should the present precarious state of things only continue till the death of Pius IX., the next Conclave could not fail to bring about the longed-for solution. Under the influence of such considerations nothing would be more natural than that he should explain his policy to the Italian government, and that they should remind Garibaldi that "in a free State no citizen can rise above the law, or substitute himself in the place of the high powers of the nation." If, then, Mr. Rattazzi and Garibaldi are as good as their word, we may look for some sorrowful catastrophe before the present month comes to its close. Garibaldi lives under fatalist influences, and has a superstitious regard for dates. The most brilliant, no less than the most gloomy reminiscences associated with his exploits in Southern Italy have been crowded into the few weeks which usher in the fall of the year. He is pledged to go to Rome on the first cooling of the weather. For the last three months he has been possessed by but one thought, he has given utterance to but one word—"He must go to Rome." And M. Rattazzi is pledged to prevent him.

French Opinion of the Position of Italy Towards Rome---Napoleon's Influence on Victor Emanuel's Policy.

[From the Paris Constitutionel, September 24.]

For a long time past Italy has offered the strange spectacle of a country in which, side by side with a regular government, a revolutionary faction dared to issue orders, bring together partisans, proclaim aloud its contempt for all the rules of public law and international treaties—in a word, assume all the style and conduct of a supreme authority. The King's government had to become the slave of this faction, and it was only allowed to look on as a passive spectator at the exploits projected by what people have accustomed themselves to call the party of action. Astonished Europe asked itself whether the Italian peninsula had conquered its liberty and independence only to fall into the most frightful anarchy. For every one was agreed upon one point—that the invasion of the Pontifical States would only be the first stage in the revolutionary march. What course will the Italian Government take in the face of plans proclaimed so ostentatiously? Will it allow them to proceed, in order, in case of success, to profit by the conquests of demagoguism? Or will it wait until Garibaldi has commenced to execute his project? Or, finally, will it endeavor to prevent a new Aspromonte? Such were the questions which presented themselves to the public mind in its natural alarm. For ourselves, we never doubted that the last mentioned course would be that chosen by M. Ratazzi, because it is the only one that is just, humane and incumbent on a Government worthy of the name. The Ministerial declaration, by the clearness of its language, puts an end to all equivocation and to all false interpretations. It denounces the project of Garibaldi and his partisans as an attack upon the sacredness of treaties; and it shows to the people the injury which these proceedings inflict upon the honor and prosperity of Italy. By this energetic declaration the Ratazzi Ministry has deserved well of its country.

[From the Paris Etendard, Sept. 24.]

Henceforward there will be no more doubt, and the Italians who may be believed, on the authority of the reactionary press, in a secret understanding between the ministry and the party of action, will now know that, before reaching Rome, the flag of Savoy must be attacked. The official declaration is clear and leaves no room for doubt. If Garibaldi moves forward he will encounter the royal troops on his line of march, and for the second time the great Italian patriot will have to direct his arms against his own country. This energetic attitude of the government is not without danger for the cabinet which advises it, because the Italian people, for many years a prey to secret societies, have not yet altogether escaped from the influence of certain men and a few dangerous watchwords, but M. Ratazzi, has proved, on three distinct occasions, that he can sacrifice his popularity to his patriotism. After Novara he signed the treaty of peace in spite of popular resistance—a peace which saved the House of Savoy and secured the future of Italy. After Solferino he consolidated the work accomplished by fulfilling the promises given; and then he resigned power. Finally, some years later, he resolutely confronted Garibaldi and arrested him in his culpable enterprise. And now, as at that period, it is possible that a parliament, more anxious about its own re-election than careful of the interests of the country, may think it right to sacrifice the Minister to a certain popular sentimentalism. But M. Ratazzi will have acted well, and his political life will be that of a good citizen.

[From the Paris Presse, September 24.]

This declaration vindicates for the government the prerogatives which were ignored; it reminds Garibaldi that no one has the right to place himself above the law; and it specifies, with a clearness that cannot be contested, the obligations which the Convention of the 15th September has imposed upon Italy. The language of the Florence Cabinet leaves nothing to desire, if it be as sincere as it is distinct. The event will show whether M. Ratazzi means all that he says, and whether he has strength requisite to accomplish what he desires. We have no occasion to congratulate a government upon recognizing and holding to its engagements. Experience has proved, indeed, that the interests of governments are in harmony with their honor, and that good faith is a power as well as a duty.

[From the Paris Monde (clerical organ), Sept. 24.]

Respect for sworn faith, public tranquility and the interest of the State credit are the motives put forward by M. Rattazzi, and which are all derived from political considerations. As to the rights of the Church and of the Papacy, there is no mention whatever of them in the document, and we are not astonished at the omission. We even remark the words, "the glorious name of Rome," which seems to be introduced to attenuate the fault of the Garibaldians, as if the Minister felt the need of thus excusing the measures which he is obliged by circumstances to adopt. Rome is thus in safety and guaranteed for the moment. Are all alarms, therefore, henceforth to cease? It would be a mistake to believe so. The Cabinet of Florence is evidently giving way to a foreign pressure. On the day on which the Italian Government shall think itself able to interpret the proclamation to its own advantage and free itself from its own obligations, who will prevent it? The situation is, therefore, still precarious, and Providence remains charged with the safety of the temporal Papacy. We repeat, in the present moment all uneasiness seems to have disappeared. If M. Rattazzi be sincere, Rome and its diminished territory are as well preserved from an attack from without or from a rising within as if they were defended by 100,000 men. Why that security? Because Florence has spoken, and she has done so because Paris has advised her. Does any one believe that General Menabrea came to Paris for nothing?

THE ITALIAN REVOLUTION.

GARIBALDI'S LAST PROCLAMATION.

Revolutionists Committing Outrages.

A SON OF GARIBALDI ARRESTED.

Fenian Outbreak Expected in the North of England.

Bavaria in Favor of German Unity.

The Italian Revolution.

LONDON, October 8.—Garibaldi, from the Island of Caprera, has issued a second proclamation, couched in very violent words, against the Cabinet policy and personal action of Rattazzi. The General charges Rattazzi with being the enemy of Italian unity, and to some extent the tool of the church party and Napoleon. He urges the revolutionary force to go on and capture Rome.

The insurgents in the Pontificial province of Viterbo are daily increasing in numbers. The Papal troops in the territory of Viterbo were reinforced by detachments from Rome, and have routed the Garibaldians at Baynarea and in small fights at other points. Nothing of a really serious character has yet occurred in Pontifical territory. The fighting is confined to unsettled operations of a few bands of Garibaldians. The insurgents lack leaders and act more like bandits than patriots. They capture quiet and peaceable villages, levy contributions on the inhabitants, and commit outrages of different degrees of crime. They are as a general thing quickly driven out by the Papal Zouaves. When the revolutionists retreat from the towns, the Roman peasants restore the Papal flag with demonstrations of gladness and joy.

New Market Races.

NEW MARKET, October 8, Evening.—The second October race meeting commenced here to-day. The two leading races to-day were for the Czarowitch and Royal stakes. The former was won by Julius. Fenian Outbreak Feared.

LONDON, October 9.—The manifestations of ill-feeling on the part of the Irish in the north of England have created much alarm. The inhabitants believe the Fenians are concerting an outbreak in that part of the country. Troops have been dispatched by railroad to assist the civil authorities there, should any disturbance occur.

Uneasiness in Ireland.

DUBLIN, October 8, Evening.—The uneasiness caused by rumors of the revival of the Fenian conspiracy is increasing. Extraordinary precautions have been taken by the military and police authorities throughout the island.

A Son of Garibaldi Arrested.

FLORENCE, October 9.—A report is in circulation that Menoti, a son of Garibaldi, has been arrested by the Italian Government. When last heard of Menoti Garibaldi was actively engaged in carrying out his father's plans for the invasion of Roman Territory. With these plans he was well acquainted, full confidence having been reposed in him by the General. His arrest will be a severe blow to his followers, as in the absence of Garibaldi it deprives them of their most capable leader.

German Unity.

MUNICH, October 9.—At the sitting of the Bavarian Diet yesterday, Prince Hohenhohe, chief minister of the Cabinet, made a speech in which he discussed the question of German unity, and indicated the position of the Government in relation to the other States. He declared the true policy of Bavaria was to seek union with the North German States under the Presidency of the King of Prussia, and at the same time to take steps for the establishment of a firm and enduring alliance with the Emperor of Austria. Should this policy be carried into effect, the unity of the whole Fatherland would be completed, the balance of power between Austria and Prussia preserved, and the peace of Europe additionally guaranteed.

ST. LOUIS.

The Fair a Success---Habeas Corpus Case.

ST. LOUIS, October 9.—The attendance at the Fair to-day was very large. The heavy rain last night laid the dust, and the weather to-day has been delightful. In the contest of horse power threshers, H. O. Pitts & Sons, of Chicago, took the first premium, and Case & Co., of Racine, Wisconsin, second. The other competitors were Handsome & Co., Alton, Illinois; Kingsland & Ferguson, St. Louis; Russell & Co., Massillon, Ohio; E. Ball & Co., and C. Altman, Canton; Sanger & Co., Joliet, Illinois, and Garr & Co., Richmond, Indiana.

For steam equalizing governor, Wilson, Tees & Fairchild, of Leavenworth, Kansas, took the first premium.

In the ring department exhibitions for thorough bred bulls, the premiums were taken by W. R. Duncan, of McLean county, Illinois; D. McMillan, Xenia, Ohio; J. H. Pickell, Harristown, Illinois, and H. Lingenfelder, Danville, Indiana. For thorough bred cows and heifers, J. H. Pickell, Harristown, Illinois; D. McMillan, Xenia, Ohio; J. M. Hill, Harristown, Illinois, and W. R. Duncan, McLean county, Illinois, took premiums.

For stallions of all work, premiums were taken by L. L. Dorsey, Jefferson county, Kentucky; Logan Railey, Versailles, Ky., and J. Beattie, Jersey county, Illinois. For geldings of all work, J. C. Payne, Bunker Hill, Illinois, and Logan Railey, of Kentucky, took first premium.

To-morrow will be the greatest day of the fair. The Mayor of the city has proclaimed it a holiday. Everybody is expected to be on the ground. The principal attraction will be a race, free to all trotters, in harness, for a grand special prize, the first horse to get one thousand dollars; second, seven hundred dollars; third, three hundred dollars. There will also be several handsome premiums for roadster stallions, geldings and mares, and several private prizes for single horses and matched teams.

So far the fair is a grand succes, and reminds one of the days before the war, when the fairs of this Association attracted competitors from all parts of the Union.

The United States Court yesterday granted a writ of habeas corpus commanding the warden of the Missouri Penitentiary to produce in court on Tuesday next Wm. Murphy, who was sentenced by military commission to ten years' imprisonment for boat burning on the Mississippi river during the war. The jurisdiction and power of a military tribunal to try a citizen for a criminal offense will be the question on which will be predicated the discharge or remanding of the prisoner.

RICHMOND.

General Schofield Called to Washington--Trouble With Negroes.

RICHMOND, October 9.—General Schofield left to-day for Washington, where he and the other District Commanders, it is stated, have been called by the President.

A telegram to the Dispatch says: Yesterday the United States authorities, who are returning to the owners their farms in Norfolk county which have been squatted upon by blacks during the war, went to Taylor's farm on Willoughby Point, but found the blacks armed and refusing to vacate. The authorities retired. Many farms in that district are similarly situated, and the negroes express a determination not to be driven off. In the case mentioned it was offered to transfer the negroes to General Wise's farm, but they refused.

In the whole city to-day not half a dozen were registered.

CONSOLIDATION.

We have returns from all the districts included in the proposed consolidated city, excepting two. These will not change the result materially. The aggregate vote stands thus: For consolidation, 7,427; against, 7,293. A small majority of between two and three hundred is thus apparent in the aggregate, but the district system effectually defeats the measure for the present:

DEATH OF COLONEL GIBSON.—We regret to announce to-day the death of Col. Jas. A. Gibson, which took place on Tuesday night at his residence in Pine township. Colonel Gibson was well known in this community, and has for a long time been one of the most active members of the Democratic party. During President Buchanan's administration he filled the position of Surveyor of Customs at this port with credit, and has held other public offices of trust. He was among the first settlers of Pine township, and was highly esteemed. He was fifty-eight years of age at the time of his death, and leaves a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who will learn of his death with sincere sorrow.

COMMISSIONER WELLS IN THE CITY.—Hon. D. A. Wells, special Commissioner of Revenue, is now at the Monongahela House, and during the day will be glad to meet any of the manufacturers of this city who may wish to confer with him in relation to the subject of tariff or internal revenue. The Daily Commercial

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1867.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

THE Washington correspondent of the Boston Post throws out an intimation of the meaning of General SHERMAN'S presence at the Capital. He says: "The surmise that General SHERMAN will be offered the Department of War is wide of the mark, and yet there is no doubt he will be placed in a most responsible position. What will that position be? There is the Military Department of Washington, which may require just such a commander as General SHERMAN."

THE defeat of Mr. RICHARD SMITH, editor of the Cincinnati Gazette, in the Second Ohio Congressional District, will be widely and sincerely regretted. He goes down before the storm which has swept over Ohio with a fury as great as it was unexpected. CARY, the successful candidate, has never been a Democrat, but always a Radical Republican, although it was by the assistance which the Democrats in a body gave him that he secured his election. He now classifies himself as an independent. To be elected to Congress would have been no particular honor to Mr. SMITH. As the editor of one of the most influential journals in the country he could derive no additional distinction from an election. But the country would have been the gainer, and on this account we chiefly regret his defeat.

CONCEDING that SHARSWOOD has a majority of five thousand in the State, the first thing that will occur to most Republicans, is, how easily the result might have been reversed. Notwithstanding the adverse circumstances which attended it, had the canvass been managed with even an ordinary amount of vigor and good sense, the State would have been carried. Considering everything, the wonder is that SHARSWOOD'S majority is not three times what it is. Taking it for granted that the Republicans of the State will proceed speedily to take soundings and repair damages, we take the liberty of suggesting that there is nothing more important than efficient committees, local and State. To effect a cure we must find out what is the matter, and for the present we simply design to direct attention to a quarter which, if it be not the seat of the complaint, is at least an aggravating cause.

THE report of the Department of Agriculture for July and August is issued by the Commissioner. It shows that the increase of the wheat crop, over last year's, is large, but not large as was anticipated. The increase is greater in Ohio than in any other State, being 130 per cent. The only noticeable thing in the meteorological tables is, the surprising difference in the quantity of rain in the East and the West. Our own State embraces almost the extremes. The depth of rain falling in Philadelphia, in August, was 16.84 inches, while in Canonsburg it was only 1 inch and 84 hundredths. East of the mountains, August was a month of rain, appreciable quantities having fallen on fifteen days of the month. The average of August for fifteen years at Philadelphia has been only four inches and fifty-two hundredths. The report is rather unfavorable on the score of fruit, particularly apples. Hay is a very large crop. Wool is represented as from five to ten per cent. less than last year, owing to the severity of last winter and the consequent destruction of large numbers of sheep.

AMERICA AND JAPAN.

It is a little pleasant to our national vanity to have the respect of even those nations whose civilization rates lower than our own. And it must be admitted that our moderate measure of intercourse with the Japanese for a number of years back has made them both friends and admirers of our country. Our Government has been advised of the safe return home of the Commissioners who visited America this year, and of the favorable report that they have given of the condition and character of this country. Their observations were quite extensive, and, being intelligent men, they are able to enlighten their countrymen with the results.

Our Government has also been informed of the highly favorable reception given by the Japanese authorities to our Minister, Mr. VAN VALKENBURG, who, on board the Shenandoah, has along with Commodore GOLDSBOROUGH visited several of the ports and cities of Japan, and was everywhere received with the greatest distinction. At Hakodadi he was saluted from the forts, the first time that this honor has ever been paid to a foreign minister. But more remarkable still, the official authorities of this great city caused a salute to be fired on the Fourth of July, in honor of American Independence, and at a banquet the Governor gave as a toast, "The prosperity of the United States and the lasting friendship of Japan."

As a further evidence of progress, it is reported that a hotel of eighty rooms is to be built in Jeddo, to be conducted after the Occidental style, and adapted to the comfortable entertainment of foreigners. An American architect is to have charge of its erection.

THE ELECTION AND ITS LESSON.

The election day is past. An appreciably large proportion of the Republican voters do not appear to have known that it was approaching. As a consequence the aggregate vote was considerably smaller than it was last year, and in this reduction the Republican party was a large sharer, and consequent loser. There is no evidence furnished, however, by the result, that on the great central and momentous questions, upon which the party have rallied and conquered, in the field and at the polls, for years past, there has been any change in opinion. There has been no improvement in the Democratic party and no deterioration in our own, in that respect.

It is nevertheless admitted that, for various reasons, we have met with a reverse in the election of Tuesday. It is not so decided and demonstrative as to entitle it to be called a disastrous defeat, but it is a bare failure to achieve success. A large number of people are never aroused to political activity except on occasion of Gubernatorial or Congressional elections. A judiciary election is a rare occurrence, and does not, for that reason, interest the class to which we refer. Besides this, there have been introduced into the present canvass a number of questions irrelevant to the great political issues of the country, and on these, prejudices have been enlisted that have affected the result, some of these prejudices diverting voters from their own party, and others rendering them so indifferent in the contest that they did not vote at all. Among these questions we barely name, without remark, the liquor question, the Sunday question, the labor question and the negro question. The effect of the introduction of these and some others of similar character is most manifest in Ohio, where the last named was formally embodied in the canvass, to be voted on as an amendment to the State Constitution. In our own State, although irrelevant, it was made an effective occasion of appeal to a deeply rooted prejudice, and besides all this, the period during which the Republican party has been in the ascendency, and the occasion which led the people to place it in the ascendency have devolved on it the administration of the Government under circumstances more difficult and trying than in any other part of our national history. It has had to cope with a formidable insurrection, it has had to wield a tremendous power in order to the suppression of that rebellion and to maintain the life of the Government; it has had to overcome military and political adversaries treacherously leagued together. And its use of prerogative and power has unavoidably arrayed much malign passion and sordid interest against it. While these have been active and unscrupulous in the late canvass, many Republicans, reposing on their hard earned laurels, and conscious of the strength of the party have intermitted their vigilance and exertion, and suffered the opposing party to gain an advantage.

There is a still further view to be taken of the case—and we commend it to Republicans themselves. There have been sentiments broached and measures proposed by individuals of the party, which the party has never indorsed, and these have been used by our opponents to our disadvantage. In Pennsylvania, they have achieved whatever success the late election has given them, almost entirely on the negro question, which was not a matter of dispute, while the Republican sentiment—for we take this to be the pervading sentiment of the party—of intelligent suffrage, irrespective of color, was held sub silentio—unnoticed—partly out of deference to those who take more extreme ground, and partly and chiefly, because the subject was not fairly connected with the Pennsylvania canvass. The Republican party, on the platform that strictly and properly distinguishes it, is as strong, to-day, as it has been for seven years past. And, if it will learn wisdom from the experience of the present occasion, and ignore irrelevant and impracticable questions in the future, its triumphs will be, as they have been, complete, to the honor, safety and prosperity of the country.

TOUCHING certain Presidential aspirants, the elections on Tuesday teach anew the lesson, "What shadows we are, what shadows we pursue." In the light of them the Union party perceive clearly how "from this nettle, Danger," they may "pluck the flower, Safety."

THE day before the election the Cincinnati Gazette said "the want of river navigation is severely felt." Judging from the news from that quarter, we should think the want has been supplied by the sudden opening and free navigable condition of Salt River!

THE POPULATION of the earth is estimated by a German statist at 1,350,000,000, of whom 285,000,000 are in Europe, 796,600,000 in Asia, 3,850,000 in Australia and Polynesia, 188,000,000 in Africa, and 74,500,000 in America. This estimate, it is acknowledged, is only an approximation, for the statist admits that it is impossible to arrive at anything like an accurate statement of the population of Asia and Africa, there being no census or other means of ascertaining the number of inhabitants in those portions of the globe.

NO RAILWAY SLEEPERS.—In Germany, some of the railways are now constructed without wood. The rail is made about nine inches high, with a broad flat base, which rests on a well-prepared bed of ballast, and when properly placed is further supported by a layer of gravel. Thus constructed, the jerky motion of a train, occasioned by numerous sleepers, is done away with; the hammering sound becomes a steady, continuous roar, the longitudinal bearing is distributed over a greater distance, and the need for repairs occurs but rarely.

THE Boston Post correspondent gives the following Cabinet rumor: Among the speculations on the Cabinet it is reported on the street that Hon. Henry Hilton, of New York, will be appointed Secretary of State; Hon. Thos. Ewing, Secretary of the Treasury; Gen. Steedman, Secretary of War; Gov. English, of Connecticut, Secretary of the Navy, Gen. Frank P. Blair, Postmaster General, and Judge Black, Attorney General. I am disposed to believe that the larger portion of this rumor will prove to be true.

ARTIFICIAL ICE.—The London Mechanics' Magazine describes a new and very effective ice machine. It is simply an air pump fitted to a bottle. The bottle is half filled with water, and the pump is set to work. Air is first pumped out, and then the water rapidly evaporates. To complete the vacuum and increase the evaporation, the air and aqueous vapor pumped out are made to traverse a hollow cylinder containing sulphuric acid, which of course instantly absorbs the moisture. The evaporation is so rapid that the remaining water is quickly converted into a mass of ice. Four minutes' pumping suffices to produce two pints of ice, with an apparatus which only costs about twelve dollars in gold.

Yield of Gold and Silver.

We learn from a new English volume on mining that in 1865 the principal mineral producing countries of the world yielded 559,587 pounds of gold and four million pounds of silver. Of gold, California and the adjoining mineral districts produced 210,000 pounds; Australia and New Zealand, 191,000; Russia 65,500, South America, 34,000; Southern Asia, 25,000 of silver; Mexico produced 1,700,000 pounds; the United States, 1,000,000, Peru and Chili, 598,000, and the rest of Europe, including the British Isles, 526,000.

Estimating the value of these metals at present market values, the yield of gold for the year was not far from $125,000,000, and of silver $75,000,000.

Maximilian's Confidential Papers.

A Paris letter says: "Some time ago it was stated that upon his death the Emperor Maximilian had forwarded to the Duc d'Aumale a sealed packet containing documents of the highest importance, and which the French Emperor has made vain efforts to obtain. This story was contradicted, but it is now revived in another form, the fresh version being that M. Hooricks, the late Charge d'Affairs of Belgium in Mexico, and who has just returned from that country with the French Minister, M. Dano, has brought back with him a packet of confidential papers, which he was charged by the late Emperor to place safely in the hands of His Majesty, the King of the Belgians. Speculation is of course busy as to the nature of these documents, and as to whether they are identical with those said to have been sent to the Duc d'Aumale."

Our Imports.

The imports of foreign goods at New York during September, reckoned at their foreign cost in gold, freight and duty unpaid, amount to $7,221,223, which is nearly two millions below the corresponding figures of last year. The value thrown upon the market is nearly nine millions, the stock in bond having been drawn upon to that extent. For the first three-quarters of the current year, reckoned in the same way, the imports amount to $73,391,102, which is a little over thirty-one millions less than in corresponding time last year. The value thrown on the market is upwards of seventy-nine and a quarter millions, against one hundred and one and a half millions same time in 1866. The great increase in this trade began in August, 1865, and reached its culmination last year. The season thus far has not been quite as profitable as was expected from the falling off in the imports, but there have been no heavy sacrifices on seasonable goods. The currency value of the exports of domestic produce and miscellaneous goods from New York, including foreign articles, re-exported since January 1, 1867, amount to $137,053,226, against $149,247,456 in same time in 1866—showing a decrease of $12,192,130.

Mr. Dickens's First Visit.

It is an interesting fact that of the twelve gentlemen who composed the reception committee of Charles Dickens in New York, in 1842, only one is living, Mr. P. M. Artmore, who has printed a very pleasant reminiscence of the interesting event. But the Times supplies an omitted incident. Washington Irving presided, and as he was the most modest and unaffectedly self-distrustful of men, and quite as unused to facing a public audience as a battery, the task of making the opening speech was terribly formidable. He went on successfully for about two minutes, and then, his memory failing, came to a pause. His face grew scarlet; he became as embarrassed as a shy schoolboy in a parlor, and, stammering, "It's of no use; I never could do a thing of this kind," he sat down, amid the hearty applause and cordial good feeling of everybody in the room. Nobody greeted him more heartily than Dickens himself. He was and is a capital off-hand speaker: and when he spoke, in the warmest and most graceful manner, of the delight he had for years taken in Irving's writings, and cited a witness, who sat behind him, to prove that he never went to sleep without one of Irving's books under his pillow, he roused the heartiest enthusiasm of the whole company. That was but twenty-five years ago; yet how many would be the chairs made vacant by death, if that company were to be called together to welcome Dickens again!

Opera-Glass Annoyances.

[From the New York Commercial Advertiser.]

Opera-glasses are as much displaced in the hands of impudent people as are fire-arms in the hands of fools. And yet it would almost seem that no one possesses an opera-glass who is not impudent. It is bad enough to be stared at with the "naked eye," but when one brazenly brings to bear on you an opera glass it is unendurable. No well-bred person does it, however, and that is some consolation. It is done only by those overstocked with impudence. A friend of mine a few evenings since, at one of our places of amusement, adopted an expedient to protect his wife, sitting by his side, from one of these impudent bores, which proved effectual.

On the other side of the house sat an effeminate looking young man, more gaudily than tastefully dressed, with an opera glass, which, after surveying the audience and selecting some lady, he would clap to his eyes and keep at her for minutes. He finally brought his glass to bear on my friend's wife, who, noticing this action, became quite uneasy and nervous. Finally my friend took the card with the word "Taken" printed on it, which he found on his seat, and held it up directly in front of his wife. The boor looked a moment longer—and but a moment, and then he turned his gaze elsewhere. Those in the immediate vicinity saw the action and enjoyed it greatly. Poor, however, finding that lady was "taken," sought others, and labored assiduously with his glass all the evening, giving no attention whatever to the performance.

OUR RAILROADS AND THEIR MANAGEMENT.

Meeting of the Investigating Committee.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

Last March before the adjournment of the Senate, the General Judiciary Committee of that body were instructed during the recess to take testimony and report to the next session of the Senate any complaints that might be made in regard to the management of any of the railroad lines of the State. This committee has held a session at Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pottsville and Wilksbarre, and adjourned to meet at Pittsburgh on Tuesday next, 15th of October. I learn from our clerk, who takes the testimony in short-hand, that he has just completed writing it out, and that it covers seven hundred pages of manuscript. So far it has been mainly confined to complaints of alleged excessive charges on freight by railroads, alleged discriminations on local freight, and in favor of citizens of other States against our own citizens and home trade, the policy of what is known as fast freight lines and other kindred subjects. The Committee will hear any complaints the citizens have to make, and also any defense or explanations any of the managers of our railroad lines have to offer. The Committee will issue subpœnas to call before it any witnesses whose names are furnished them. I therefore, on behalf of the Committee, invite all persons interested to meet with us at the Board of Trade Rooms, Pittsburgh, on next Tuesday evening, at 3 o'clock, and they will be heard as soon thereafter as possible. This is the only opportunity that will be given in this vicinity, and I hope all persons desiring to be heard will meet with us.

T. J. BIGHAM.
Resident Member of said Committee.

LOST AND FOUND—THE DEAD ALIVE.

Two Brothers Meet on Our Streets After Sixty Years of Separation.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial.]

The downfall of slavery and the subsequent reunion of families long separated and held in bondage, affords many instances of joyful reunion, but few more remarkable than the following:

Many of our citizens know by sight or personally, Mr. Joshua Collins, a colored citizen, aged about eighty-two years, who had been for nearly twenty years a resident of the city, holding during that time many positions of trust, and who is now employed as an agent for Mr. George Johnson, in charge of a coal yard on Water street.

Joshua Collins and his brother Solomon, the subject of this sketch, were born of slave parents; Joshua in Fleming county, Kentucky, in 1785, and Solomon in Mason county, same State, in 1807. Six weeks after Solomon's birth, Joshua, who was then about twenty-two years old, was sold to parties in Virginia, and, bidding adieu to his "Old Kentucky home," and his parents and brothers and sisters, removed to Virginia, and thence in 1817 to Knoxville, where he remained, being sold and resold several times, till 1849, when he purchased himself for $600, and moved to this city in 1850, where he has since resided, hale hearty and respected by all who knew him.

Solomon, who was a sickly child, aged six weeks, when his brother Joshua was sold away, grew up to manhood, and when in his thirtieth year ran away from his master in Kentucky, crossed the Ohio river near Marysville, Kentucky, came to this city, and in company with two other refugees, was placed aboard the through train on the underground railroad and was safely landed in Canada, where he resided for nearly ten years, when, in hopes of bettering his condition, he emigrated to the West Indies, settling at Kingston, Jamaica, where he remained nearly twenty years, working on a sugar plantation till last fall, when, the frosts of many winters having left their traces in snowy whiteness on his scanty locks, he turned his steps homeward to America, now the "land of the free," in hopes of finding here some of his relatives. He arrived in New York last May, and working his way westward arrived in this city on Friday last, and on Sunday, while walking along our streets, the two brothers, Joshua and Solomon, met for the first time in sixty years, and for the first time since Solomon was an infant six weeks old and Joshua a young man of twenty-two.

The meeting on Sunday was purely accidental. As each was walking along the street, Joshua, with the civility and kindness for which he is noted, addressed Solomon, recognizing him as a stranger in the city, and after the topics of the day had been discussed, mutual inquiries were made as to each other's birth-place, and much to their astonishment the fact became apparent that they were brothers, though each had thought the other dead. The remainder of the Sabbath day, and far on into the night the two old men were quietly enjoying themselves chatting of the remarkable changes of half a century.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Frenchmen in New York are in great glee this afternoon over the remarkably quick passage of the steamer Pereire from Brest. The exact time they put down at eight days, twenty-one hours and twenty-four minutes. They contend that that is the quickest time on record, and that none of the Cunarders ever came anything near it.

A shipmaster, whose vessel carried a cargo of cotton recently from New Orleans to Liverpool, exhibited in the latter city a box of lucifer matches, which was accidentally discovered in a bale of cotton which was being placed on the vessel at New Orleans. Whether the matches were placed in the bale by accident or design is not known, but it is said this is not the first time such a discovery has been made.

The car shops of the Des Moines Valley Railroad Company, located at Keokuk, Iowa, were totally destroyed by fire on Sunday night. The watchman was burned to death in endeavoring to save valuables from the offices. Loss about $35,000: insured in the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance Companies. About eight cars and a large amount of lumber were also burned.

The Kansas City Journal learns from a gentleman who was a member of Wright's surveying party, and who was in the Indian fight, near Cimeron Crossing, that they fell into a regular ambuscade. The Indians allowed the escort of one company of troops to pass on ahead, and then rose up on the bluffs and fired into the train, killing and wounding nine at the first fire. Among the killed was Austin Drake son of senator Drake. After firing two or three volleys they set fire to the prairie and disappeared.

The Boston Advertiser—the leading New England Republican journal—commenting on Mr. Washburne's recent speech, wherein he reflected, as many suppose, the views of Gen. Grant, remarks: We do not suppose, however, that General Grant's position with respect to the President and Congress could have remained doubtful, but for the uncertainty as to the reason which led him recently to take the place of Secretary of War. Mr. Washburne discusses this action in a manner which leads us to suspect that his knowledge of General Grant's motives is superior to his knowledge of some of the facts as to the change in the War Department. Upon this important question of motives, however, his assurances are full and satisfactory—as full indeed as it would be possible for the friend of a cabinet officer to make under the circumstances. More is to be said, of course, when the proper time for a complete disclosure of reasons and facts shall have come; but for the present we are of opinion that it is but a poor return for General Grant's illustrious services and for his steady administration of affairs in the South, if the friends of healthy reconstruction cannot now trust the ultimate vindication of his political action to his record and to the full light of the facts as they must one day appear.

PERSONAL.

—Among the lecturers for the forthcoming season at Cincinnati are Rev. Dr. Storrs, Brooklyn; Rev. Dr. Fulton, Boston; Right Rev. Bishop Clark, of R. I.; Prof. E. L. Youmans, Theo. Tilton, Fred. Douglas, H. M. Shaw, (Josh Billings,) Hon. Henry Wilson, Hon. Horace Greeley, John B. Gough.

—Anna E. Dickinson's lecture before the Parker Fraternity Course, of Boston, is entitled "Idiots and Women."

—Mrs. Lander will appear in Cincinnati on the 14th inst., for a brief season, in her great character of Elizabeth.

—Sir Morton Peto has been re-elected Vice President of a Bible Union, which is probably inexpressibly gratifying to his creditors.

—The defaulting cashier of the First National Bank in New Milford, Conn., was a deacon of the church, and town treasurer, altogether a very respectable man. He stole from the bank and from the town $56,000, but was advised and allowed to make his escape, after turning over his property, about $15,000, to partially cover his thefts. The Hartford Courant gets indignant and says: "There has not been a 'respectable man' sent to the penitentiary from Hartford these fifteen years, though there have been a dozen cases of gross frauds, theft and defalcations, to the damage of our banks and insurance companies, and several cases of forgery by men who stood high in the community and in some cases in the church."

—The Chicago Republican says: Mrs. Lincoln is unfortunate—more unfortunate than most women of high estate and historic name can claim to be. We do not hesitate to express our sympathy with the dead and most honored ex-President, that, at this day, she, his wife, should have been compelled by the necessities arising from the possession of at least a competence, to make such a revelation as that to which the public is now treated. If the ashes of the dead are disturbed by the clamor that will arise over this unlooked for display of discarded laces, furs, jewelry, silks, and stuff-goods, we pray our readers to put the blame where it belongs. Meanwhile we may mention that Mr. Bradbury, of some street, New York, has second-hand clothing for ladies, for sale.

The Great Organ at Lucerne.

The Liberal Christian has Dr. Bellows's letter from Switzerland, which gives the following account of the great organ in the cathedral at Lucerne:

It is played twice every day for one hour, and furnishes a favorite resort for travelers. I stumbled into the church first at the very hour the organ was being exhibited, and with no knowledge of its merits, and of course without any special expectations. But the hush of the little audience showed that something unusual was going on, and it required only a few minutes to bring me wholly under the spell of the most magical stops that I had ever listened to. The player, I found after a second hearing, was not a very great one, but the organ itself was wonderful, and he understood perfectly how to exhibit it, undertaking only what he could do with entire success. The power of the full organ was immense, and as sweet as it was powerful. I could compare it only to the effect of a great park of artillery heard at a distance sufficient to mellow the thunder. But the vox humana was the specialty of this organ, and certainly nothing more successful in the way of imitation was ever done. At first, after a bold introduction of the full organ, we heard a choir of children's voices, singing apparently in a neighboring cloister; then a chorus of men's voices took up the strain, and came nearer and nearer as if one and then another door between us and them had been opened. I could not persuade myself for a long time that a choir was not concealed in some adjoining apartment; but it was finally clear that no choir could keep such time and agree together in such expression. Nothing by tones more human or more angelic was ever permitted to visit my ears; at times the mighty instrument was subdued to the gentleness of an infant's breathing, and we all held our breath not to lose the least sigh of its decaying harmony. It seemed as if a choir of seraphs had strayed out of heaven and were overheard by chance as they flew by.

DR. CHAUSSIER'S EMPRESS.

LA COMPOSITION IMPERATRICE, POUR LES CHEVEUX.

It has long been known that the hair, by mental exertion, by excitement, by disease, and imperfect circulation, loses its vitality, turns gray and falls off. That eminent French Chemist, Dr. CHAUSSIER, has provided a complete antidote, and at the same time a beautiful dressing for the hair, durable and finely perfumed. Remember, this is the finest article for the toilet that has ever been presented to the public. It is not a Dye. It will not soil the finest linen. It will not gum the hair. It is free from the disagreeable smell of sulphur. It relieves the scalp of dandruff or unpleasant irritation. Prevents the hair from falling off, even after fever. Causes the new hair to grow. It will restore gray hair to its natural color, or the money will be refunded in every instance. As this preparation is comparatively new in this country, the proprietors present the testimonials of well known persons as to its excellence. Directions in French and English.

ONWARD, RIGHT ONWARD,

Into the valley of death,
Rode the six hundred,

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in Tennyson's poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy beings who are riding into misery, worse than death, hugging that fearful disease FEVER AND AGUE, when by the use of

MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS,

They might, each one, be forever relieved from it, and their physical organization become thoroughly improved by means of a purified blood and healthy condition of the stomach. The legitimate result of using

Mishler's Celebrated Herb Bitters,

Is to ward off Fever and Ague when it is likely to make its appearance, and to effect a radical cure in cases where it has already gained a foothold. It makes no difference how long the victim of this disease has suffered from it, nor how violent the disease itself may be, we are prepared to furnish indubitable evidence that

Mishler's Celebrated Herb Bitters

Will cure it. It is inevitable from the very nature of the medicine; hence there is no longer any need of suffering. Send to your nearest Druggist for these invaluable Bitters, they all sell them.

A Son of Louis Napoleon.

The Emperor's illegitimate son by the late Miss Howard has just married a rich Hungarian lady, whose name the papers do not mention. It will be remembered that Miss Howard, when an actress at a minor theater in London, became Louis Napoleon's mistress before 1848. When he became President of the Republic he caused her to come to Paris and installed her in a mansion just opposite the side entrance to the Elysee, in the Avenue Montaigne, where he saw her constantly. She was useful to him and by her influence with Jews in London got him a considerable sum of money, which he wanted for many purposes. After he became Emperor he continued to keep up relations with her till he married Eugenie de Montijo. Then he rewarded Miss Howard by creating her Countess of Beauregard, and giving her, besides a great lump of money, a chateau and handsome estate called Beauregard, two miles from St. Cloud. Some time afterwards, and in order to get her more completely off his hands, he got a foolish English gentleman of old family to marry her. She signed a deed, granting him a large mortgage on the property. As might have been expected such a marriage led to no happiness. They soon led a cat and dog life, and her husband was very much away from her.

In London he naturally found himself cut by all his old friends. One day he was openly reproached with being a woman's man, and got into such a rage that he took the deed out of his pocket and tore it up to show his disinterestedness. He knew, however, that his wife was a bad life, her constitution being impaired, and under a mistaken notion of French law he supposed that he would have a life interest in the Beauregard property after her death. When she died he went over to France to take possession, but found the Countess's son was before him. So confident was he of his right that he got a blacksmith to break open the outer door. For this act he was handed over to the police, and a letter from the Commissary informed him to his sorrow, that the son was the sole heir to his estate. So he went back to England. Beyond the run of the kitchen at Beauregard, for a short time, this heavy swell never got anything for marrying a cast off mistress. Everybody must say, "Served him right."

The Emperor never took much personal notice of Miss Howard's son after his infancy. It was, perhaps, human not to bring up the young man to look upon him as a father. But he took care to have him well educated. He is, I am told, a gentlemanly fellow, belongs to the most fashionable clubs, and takes a very good place in a rather fast section of good society. He is called a Count something or other, but I cannot at this moment remember the title. Many of his associates of the Jeunesse Doree do not know that he is the Emperor's son.—Paris Cor. Herald.

Are our Feet Properly Clothed.

It is somewhat surprising that, with all our boasted improvements, we have not as yet produced a proper covering for the feet. Barbarous people, if their climate admits, go with bare feet, or wears sandals covering only the sole of the foot. We, however, encase the whole foot, and a portion of the leg, in a material almost impervious to air and moisture, and generally uncomfortably hard and rigid. The color and polish of our boots are directly calculated to attract the sun's rays; and the enamel on patent leather, and the blacking on ordinary calf skin, tends to harden and solidify the substance. Closing the pores and making airtight cases for a portion of the body, which exudes more perspiration than any other, and is subjected to greater strain.

Our boots in summer parboil our feet in a warm bath, and in Winter freeze them in an icy envelope. It is doubtful if wet feet are, in themselves, very conducive to disease, some medical men to the contrary notwithstanding; but cramped confinement of the feet, in an icy cold envelope, generated by perspiration and chilled by the external atmosphere, thus shutting the imprisoned feet almost air-tight, is as unhealthy as it is uncomfortable.

For hot weather there is hardly any shoe so agreeable as that introduced within the past three or four years, known as the army shoe, and extensively used by base-ball players. It is of heavy canvass and unblacked leather. It is cool and remarkably easy to the feet. The texture of the canvas allows the escape of the perspiration, and the color of the shoe does not attract the heat of the sun.

It would seem that the plan of covering other portions of our bodies with material pervious to air might advantageously be extended to our feet. There is no natural reason why our feet should be so much less sensitive than our hands. They become indurated and deprived of their natural activity by long, close confinement. The people of warm climates, who use their toes as we do our fingers, and the bare-footed school boy, who picks up and throws pebbles with his feet, show that the foot of the civilized adult in our climate is a much abused member. A more flexible and porous material for our boots and shoes might save us from many of those terrible annoyances, which, in the form of corns and bunions, make our pilgrimage one of pain.—Scientific American.

The Wonders of Ancient Rome.

Modern writers, taking London and Paris for their measure of material civilization, seem unwilling to admit that Rome could have reached such a pitch of glory, and wealth, and power. To him who stands within the narrow limits of the Forum, as it now appears, it seems incredible that it could have been the center of a much larger city than Europe can now boast of. Grave historians are loth to compromise their dignity and character for truth by admitting statements which seem, to men of limited views, to be fabulous, and which transcend modern experience. But we should remember that most of the monuments of ancient Rome have entirely disappeared. Nothing remains of the Palace of the Cæsars, which nearly covered the Palatine Hill; little of the fora which connected together, covered a space twice as large as that inclosed by the palaces of the Louvre and Tuileries with all their galleries and courts; almost nothing of the glories of the Capitoline Hill; and little comparatively of those Thermæ which were a mile in circuit. But what does remain attests an unparalleled grandeur—the broken pillars of the Forum; the lofty columns of Trajan and Marcus Aurelius; the Pantheon, lifting its spacious dome 200 feet into the air; the mere vestibule of the Baths of Agrippa; the triumphal arches of Titus and Trajan and Constantine; the bridges which span the Tiber; the aqueducts which cross the Campagna; the Cloaca Maxima, which drained the marshes and lakes of the infant city; but above all the Colosseum. What glory and shame are associated with that single edifice! That alone, if nothing else remained of Pagan antiquity, would indicate a grandeur and a folly such as cannot now be seen on earth. It reveals a wonderful skill in masonry, and great architectural strength; it shows the wealth and resources of rulers who must have had the treasures of the world at their command; it indicates an enormous population, since it would seat all the male adults of the City of New York; it shows the restless passions of the people for excitement, and the necessity on the part of Government of yielding to this taste. What leisure and indolence marked a city which could afford to give up so much time to the demoralizing sports! What faculties for transportation were afforded, when so many wild beasts could be brought to the capital from the central part of Africa without calling out unusual comment! How imperious a populace that compels the Government to provide such expensive pleasures!—Hours at Home.

CITY MATTERS.

THANKS.—We are indebted to J. T. Merriman, a gentlemanly messenger of the Adams Express Company, for late copies of the Cincinnati papers, received at an early hour last evening.

HEARING IN THE EAGLE BREWERY CASE.—The hearing in the case of the Eagle Brewery seized for alleged violation of the Internal Revenue laws in regard to distilling, was concluded yesterday, and the case held for trial.

FIRE.—On Tuesday afternoon a fire was discovered issuing from the roof of McCully's Glass Works, in Monongahela Borough. The firemen were promptly on the ground, but the fire was extinguished without their aid and with but little damage.

BASE BALL.—There will be a match for the junior championship of Pittsburgh this (Thursday) afternoon at Oakland, between the Osceola and Pioneer Base Ball Clubs. The match, doubtless, will attract a large crowd, and will be a very close one.

MONONGAHELA U. P. PRESBYTERY.—The Presbytery of Monongahela of the United Presbyterian Church, will meet at Robinson's Run, on Tuesday, the 15th inst., at ten o'clock, A. M., with the view of considering the various overtures from the General Assembly.

THE NICOLSON PAVEMENT.—Mr. Edward Allen, the lowest bidder for repairing Wood and Fifth streets, with the new Nicolson pavement, having complied with the condition prescribed by the Street Committee, has been awarded the contract. The grading of Wood street was commenced yesterday, and the work will be pushed forward rapidly. Under the terms of the contract the paving must be completed on the 15th of December next.

EXCITING FOOT RACE.—An exciting foot race took place yesterday afternoon at the Union Park, Allegheny, between Johnny Newell, of this city, and Mr. Kendrick, of Chicago, Ill., for a purse of two hundred dollars. The distance run was one hundred yards, and Kendrick beat his opponent six or eight feet. This is the first time Newell has ever been beaten, but in justice to him it should be said that his favorite distance for running is two hundred yards, and he could not effect a race with Kendrick at that distance, so he was compelled to run one hundred yards.

CONFESSED TO THE ROBBERY.—On Monday night last, it will be remembered, officer Fred. Rivers left for Wheeling, W. Va., having in custody a prisoner named Leonard Griffin, charged with stealing a quantity of clothing from John M. Lashley, of Wheeling. The prisoner was placed in the Wheeling jail, where he confessed to the robbery. He said that other parties were concerned with him in the robbery, but he refused to tell who they were. He said he took the pantaloons that were found in his possession from the box, and then buried the remainder of the stolen goods on an island near Wheeling. He directed the owner to the place, and the property was found there.

WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON COLLEGE.—A call signed by a number of "citizens wishing to promote the cause of education in Western Pennsylvania, and desiring especially to improve the condition and brighten the prospects of Washington and Jefferson College," has been issued inviting the Alumni and friends of that College to convene at Kittanning, during the sessions of the Synod of Pittsburgh, which will meet on the 17th day of the present month at 7.30 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of considering such measures as may be proposed touching the interests of said Institution, and with the design of making such suggestions and recommendations to the Board of Trustees, as may seem to be best for the attainment of the end in view.

In Memoriam.

At a meeting of the pupils of Prof. Bogle's English and Classical School, October 8th, the following resolutions were adopted in memory of our friend and school-mate, Wm. Spencer, who died after a brief illness, October 4th, 1867:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God in His all wise providence to remove from among us our loved friend and school-mate, Wm. Spencer, whose kind and generous disposition has endeared him to teachers and pupils, and whose decease has cast a shade of gloom over our school,

Resolved, 1st. That although there has been leave-taking, sorrow and heart-breaking, and a pale echo-making of the gone, forever gone, we recognize in this mysterious providence the hand of our Heavenly Father, "who doeth all things well."

2. That we will fondly cherish his memory, and strive to imitate him in his many acts of kindness and noble virtue.

3. That we sincerely sympathize with the bereaved parents and relatives in the loss they have sustained in this severing of the dear band bound together by the most sacred ties; but we hope it will be to them only another link in the chain which connects the creature with the Creator, that shall draw imperceptibly upward the dear ones left behind.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the afflicted parents of the deceased, and also that they be published in the city papers.

PRESLEY JONES,
HENRY IRWIN, } Committee.
ELLA CLARK,

The Pittsburgh Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

This ecclesiastical body convenes to-day at Greenville, Mercer county, Pa. It was formally organized in 1845, having upon its roll eight ministers, representing about three thousand lay members. Since then its history has been marked by zeal and devotion to the Kingdom of Christ, resulting in the most gratifying progress and prosperity. In addition to its missionary success in Texas, West Virginia, Canada and the "Great West," it has increased rapidly in Western Pennsylvania, numbering at present about sixty ministers and over nine thousand communicants.

The former harmony and unity of this body has lately been interrupted by its separation from the General Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in the United States. At the present convention it will probably determine the question of union with the General Council of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, in North America. This new organization is about to be formed by the District Synods dissatisfied with the Constitution of the General Synod (requiring adherence to the Augsburg Confession only in fundamental doctrines) and favoring the literal and unconditional acceptation of the unaltered Augsburg Confession as interpreted by the other symbolical books of the church.

As union with this organization is strongly urged by Drs. Passavant, Bassler and other prominent members of the Pittsburgh Synod the action of the present convention is awaited with deep interest and anxiety. The whole subject is one of the most vital importance to the Lutheran Church in this country.

County Agricultural Society—Fair Buildings Purchased.

A special meeting of the Allegheny County Agricultural Society was held on Wednesday forenoon, at the office of Messrs. Phelps, Parke & Co., St. Clair street. Members present, Messrs. Brush, McKelvy, Murdock, G. M. Reed, Hill and James Reed. In the absence of the President, Mr. Chess, James E. Park, Esq., was called to the chair. George M. Reed, Esq., acted as Secretary.

Judge Park stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of submitting to the Board, for their approval, a form of contract for the purchase of the buildings and improvements erected by the State Agricultural society for their late exhibition. These buildings were offered, just as they stand, for the sum of twelve hundred and fifty dollars, and Messrs. Park and Jennings, on behalf of the county society, had given a guaranty to purchase the improvements at the price mentioned. This meeting was called to ascertain the views of the members on the proposition.

After a full interchange of opinion, Mr. Brush moved that the Society confirm the purchase of lumber, buildings, etc., as per contract. The motion was agreed to, as a note was drawn for the amount, payable in thirteen months, and indorsed by several members of the Board. The meeting then adjourned.

We understand that the lumber used in the buildings is worth considerably more than the price paid. To realize its value, however, it would have to be taken down and removed, which the State Society did not wish to do. The buildings can be used to great advantage by the County Society, in their future exhibitions, and they have done a wise thing in purchasing them.

Court Proceedings.

CRIMINAL COURT—JUDGE STOWE.

Howell Douglass was placed on trial on an indictment with two counts, charging him with larceny, the other with burglary. It was alleged by the prosecution that he had burglariously entered the store of J. C. Lucas in Buena Vista, Allegheny county, and stole goods to the amount of $400. Seven hinges and a shirt found in his possession, were claimed to have been stolen. It was proved that there was no one in the store at the time the goods were stolen, and that the hinges and shirt claimed to have been stolen were the property of the defendant, and in his possession at the time the robbery was committed. Several witnesses testified to this.

The case was submitted without argument, and Judge Stowe delivered the charge to the Jury. It was the opinion of the Court that the shirts and hinges would not be sufficient to warrant a conviction, as the prosecutor might be mistaken. However, the case was for the Jury. If they were of the opinion of the Court, it might be proper that they should render a verdict without leaving the box. The Jury rendered a verdict of not guilty, without leaving the Court Room.

LARCENY OF A COW.

John Neles was arraigned on a charge of larceny, preferred by John Stump. It was alleged the defendant, on the 25th of September last, stole from Stump a cow valued at $65. The prosecutor testified that the cow was taken from his pasture in Pitt township, and found a few days after in East Liberty, where the boy offered the animal for sale. The defendant, who was a boy of eighteen years of age, plead guilty. He stated that about three weeks ago he left his home in Butler county and came to this city, without the consent of his parents, and being out of money, stole the cow. He was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and be taken to the House of Refuge.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

The next case taken up was that of Wm. Minegar, indicted for an aggravated assault and battery committed on the person of John Shellaby, of Allegheny city, the 24th of July last.

The difficulty occurred at King's saloon in Allegheny city, where the defendant had been drinking. It was alleged that he endeavored to pick a quarrel with Shellaby, and when the saloon closed, as the prosecutor came out on the street defendant threw a stone and hit him on the forehead, inflicting a serious wound. It was alleged by the defense that both parties were intoxicated at the time of the difficulty. The jury found a verdict of guilty.

Court then adjourned.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—JUDGE MELLON.

The first case called up was that of Andrews & Armstrong vs. John Knoeller. This was an action to recover $175, alleged to be due plaintiffs for a geared force pump furnished the defendant. The defendant refused to pay the amount claimed to be due, on the ground that the pump was defective and improperly constructed. The plaintiffs showed by experts that the pump was well and properly made and of good material. Jury out.

Daniel O'Hare vs. Dain & Pitcairn. Action in reference to a contract for excavating a cellar on Liberty street. There was a difference between the parties in regard to the amount of work done. Case on trial.

Police Intelligence.

[Before Alderman McMasters.]

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

John McMillen appeared before this magistrate yesterday and instituted suit against John Oliver, charging him with perjury. In his information, the prosecutor alleges that on the fourth inst., Oliver brought suit against him before Alderman McMasters for surety of the peace, alleging that Oliver threatened to "stick him with a pick," which was false and untrue in every particular and which deponent can prove. The defendant has not yet been arrested. The parties live in Manchester.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF.

J. P. Leonard was arrested on a charge of malicious mischief, preferred by Thomas Flinn. The parties reside at Soho, and Flinn alleges that on Monday last Leonard maliciously broke open the door and windows of deponent's house, and threw a number of stones into the house. The accused was held in one thousand dollars bail to answer.

[Before Alderman Albeitz.]

FALSE PRETENSES.

Michael Flateny appeared yesterday and made an information against Peter Hanel, for false pretenses. Deponent alleges that Hanel obtained from him a pair of shoes, valued at five dollars, by representing that he had money coming to him and would pay him in a short time. A warrant was placed in officer Connor's hands for the arrest of the accused, who lives in the Eighth ward.

[Before Burgess Barker, of South Pittsburgh.]

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Thomas Daggett was arrested yesterday, on a charge of committing an assault and battery on John McCaffrey. The alleged offense was committed in South Pittsburgh on Monday last. In default of three hundred dollars bail, conditioned for the defendant's appearance for a hearing to-morrow morning, he was committed to jail.

[Before Justice Kelly, of Temperanceville.]

STRUCK WITH A "BILLY."

James Bryant lodged an information yesterday against Rankin Creddy, for assault and battery, alleging that the latter attacked him and struck him with a "handy billy." Creddy was arrested and held for a hearing.

AQUATIC SPORTS.

Hamill and McKiel—The "Little Engine" to Retire Next Season.

The following letter from our champion oarsman, Jimmy Hamill, under date of the 5th inst., appears in this week's Clipper. It goes directly to the point, and fixes the fact that there will be no race on his part this season:

FRIEND QUEEN.—I see by last week's Clipper that Mr. McKiel has issued another challenge, which is very fair, but as far as I am concerned it is not in time, as I am determined to row no more this season. You will remember that last summer, after his challenge, I agreed to row him and Brown on the Schuylkill in the same week, for one thousand dollars a side each race, each man to pay his own expenses. My object in offering to row both men was that one training would do both races. Mr. McKiel, for some reason best known to himself, thought proper not to accept. After the race with Brown was made, if McKiel had desired a race with me he could have been accommodated in a day or two after my race with Brown, as my friends were prepared to make a race any time after Brown's race, which none know better than McKiel himself. Now if Mr. McKiel really wishes to row, and will let his present deposit remain in your hands, I will send on a like amount, and will row him or any other man for two thousand dollars a side, the race to come off next summer on a course to be named by me some place East, each man to pay his own expenses; or, if there is any course laid out by the different boating clubs next year, as intended, I will row him there for the same amount, and any one else that will row in the same week for the same amount, as I wish to finish up my rowing next season and retire. It is out of the question for me to get in order to row this season. If Mr. McKiel is anxious for a race I have no doubt that he will be accommodated, as some of the rowers are in shape to row at any time, and will very likely give him a race.

Yours, truly, JAMES HAMILL.

MCKIEL AND COLTART.

The same number of the Clipper contains the following in regard to the contemplated match between McKiel, and Coltart, of this city:

Just before going to press an express package came to hand containing a formal acceptance, on the terms stated above, backed up by a century. M'Kiel not expecting to get on, drew his money on the 5th inst., but we expect to see him at this office, or some one in his behalf, on the 12th inst., ready to sign articles.

A game of base ball was played on Tuesday, Oct. 8th, between the Rough and Ready, of Beaver, and Young America, of Rochester, Pa., on the grounds of the former. Fine play was exhibited on both sides, but the heavy batting, &c., of the "irrepressible Rough and Ready's" carried the day. The following is the score:

The Returns by Telegraph.

For the large number of election returns received Tuesday night from the various parts of the State, the press and public of Pittsburgh are indebted to the enterprise and liberality of the managers of the telegraph offices in this city. We have heretofore to a certain extent, looked to the Associated Press agents for election returns, although the COMMERCIAL has always placed more reliance upon its special correspondents in the several counties of the State for early and correct returns. On Tuesday night Mr. Gilson, manager of the Western Union lines, through previous arrangements, received early telegrams from various parts of the State, which he kindly gave to the Associated Press—otherwise the returns in yesterday morning's papers from the usual source would have been quite meagre. Mr. Gilson is, therefore, entitled to the thanks of all interested parties, for his courtesy and commendation, and for his forethought in anticipating the public desire.

The kind attentions of Mr. Casselberry, manager of the Atlantic and Pacific Lines, who furnished the press and the County Committee with early returns from Pennsylvania and Ohio, are highly appreciated, and their liberality and enterprise speak well for the management of this popular company. The returns by this line came in thick and fast, and scarcely a section of the State in which any interest was manifested was overlooked in gathering the news. Mr. Casselberry's promptitude and kindness will be remembered.

NEW MILITARY COMPANY IN ALLEGHENY.—A meeting was held last evening in Washington Hall, Allegheny, Adjt. A. P. Callow, in the Chair, for the purpose of organizing a volunteer military company. A large number of young men were present, forty-two of whom affixed their signatures to the roll, after which the organization was perfected by the election of the following officers: Captain—P. Crawford; First Lieutenant—Charles F. Prophater; Second Lieutenant—John McGowan. The company will be styled the "Heath Zouaves," in compliment to John Heath, Esq., of Allegheny. Upon the conclusion of business, the company, preceded by a brass band, marched to the hall of the Soldiers' League, where patriotic addresses were delivered by Col. Glenn and Mr. John S. Edgar.

CALL ACCEPTED.—Rev. James G. Carson has accepted a call to the pastorate of the United Presbyterian congregation of Canonsburg, Chartiers Presbytery. His installation will take place at the next Presbytery meeting, to be held at Canonsburg on the first Tuesday in November. Rev. Mr. Welch will preach the sermon, Rev. Mr. Balph will address the pastor, and Rev. Mr. Anderson the people.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—An old and not popular play—unpopular for the reason that it is seldom properly enacted—"Romeo and Juliet," was performed last evening to a large and very fashionable audience. The play was never better put upon the Pittsburgh stage than by Manager Canning last evening. The interest of the performance last evening centered in Miss Mary McVicker, as "Juliet," who was ready charming, the audience complimenting her with two calls before the curtain during the play. Her petite figure, handsome but expressive face, and graceful and modest action, presented the youthful "Juliet" impersonified. Her reading was excellent, and taken altogether her performance was one long to be remembered with pleasure. Mr. Booth made a capital "Romeo," his performance being artistic without being unnatural. Mr. Bates as "Mercutio," Mr. Laurens as "Tybal," and Mr. Hann as "Friar Lawrence," were especially good in their respective roles, while the other characters in the play were passably well enacted. The performance as a whole was one of the most enjoyable the patrons of the drama have witnessed in a long time, as the enthusiasm of the audience last night abundantly testified.

To-night Edwin Booth will appear in another of his famous specialties, "Richelieu." This is said to be, next to Hamlet, Mr. Booth's most remarkable impersonation.

THE ANTIQUITY OF MAN.

How Old is the Human Race?

There are plenty of people who still believe that this globe came fresh from the Creator only sixty centuries ago. But geology has exploded that theory, and the ablest theologians now agree that the "six days" of the creation represent vast periods of time, while the earth itself is of inconceivable antiquity. The question which now excites attention is whether it was not contemporary with the great animals, remains of which are now and then discovered but which became extinct before the date of any history, sacred or profane or even traditional. The interesting discoveries now resulting from the explorations in progress in Kent's Cavern, Devonshire, England, show, indisputably, that man was in existence when the mammoth, three different species of the elephant, the rhinoceros, lions, and other animals were common in that country, but which are now extinct, for the bones of the animals have been found, and with them tools, weapons, and other articles which were the unmistakable work of human hands, guided by intelligence. These remains have been found imbedded in gravel and stalagmite, and the explorations have been conducted under circumstances and with a care precluding the possibility of deception. A report of these discoveries has been laid before the British Association for the advancement of Science, in session at Dundee during the present month, and an interesting discussion upon the antiquity of the human race ensued. Sir Charles Lyell took the ground that these discoveries were proof positive that man was co-existent with the mammoth and other extinct animals which have been believed heretofore to antedate the human race. Other members agreed with him, and, in the face of these discoveries, defiantly challenged those "who had whispered abroad objections to the theory of the antiquity of man, to come forward and state them now." To strengthen Lyell's position, these recent discoveries are only additional to others quite as remarkable and convincing which Mr. Wyatt, of the Association, summed up as "numerous proofs of the co-existence of man with the great extinct mammals."

THE deadly consequences of a communication beween wells and cesspools and other drainage are well enough known but are too seldom considered. Great pains are often taken to preserve the drinking water from taint in times of pestilence, but the moment the epidemic is over, the old indifference returns. We published some time ago the valuable experience of a correspondent, who urged the utilization of ordinary coal ashes by mixing them with excreta, and thus converting them into a powerful and inodorous manure. We observe that the congress on the sewage of towns that met last year at Leamington, in Warwickshire, and which has since published in one volume the papers read to it by various authors, was satisfied that a principal cause of failure in municipal sanitary system has been "the unnatural mixture of excreta with large quantities of water," and the prevailing use of water as a means of their removal. The air of the house is tainted, putrefaction takes place in the sewage which often escapes from the imperfect drains, and makes its way to the wells; and finally the rivers are polluted, and the fish poisoned, while there is no adequate compensation in the employment of sewage as a fertilizer, which, in a sanitary or pecuniary point of view, is a very doubtful experiment. The remedy is the substitution of the earth-closet, by which means the liquid and solid excreta are made portable, inoffensive, and valuable. Details of the working of this system on the Baron Rothschild's estate and elsewhere will be found in the proceedings of the Congress.

Messrs. Beymer, Bauman & Company's Standard White Lead Works.

We have frequently reverted in these columns to those important movements constantly going forward in the industrial world which so strikingly demonstrate the skilled enterprise and practical genius of our people, and as the promoter and recorder of the victories of peace, we hail with honest pride, the addition of new and substantial firms in our midst, which are to give a healthier tone to the commercial renown of the "Iron City" than it has yet enjoyed. The usefulness and permanancy of our various manufacturing establishments, made doubly so by recent events, is a matter that cannot be questioned in this enlightened age. All of them have earned honorable distinction by their achievements, and their proprietors have been more or less liberally rewarded for their investments and their energy, and have won for themselves a name which has almost unlimited currency.

Messrs. Beymer, Bauman & Company, of No. 26 Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pa., is a new firm, formed last March (formerly of B. L. Fahnestock & Co.,) for the manufacture of white lead, dry and in oil, red lead, litharge, zinc paints and putty, and they have just erected new works on the corner of Bidwell street and Ohio avenue, Allegheny city. Messrs. S. Beymer and R. F. Bauman disposed of their entire interest in the firm of B. L. Fahnestock & Co., to Mr. F., and with Mr. C. F. Wells, late of Fahnestock, Fortune & Co., have formed the new manufacturing house of Beymer, Bauman & Co., of this city. The latter gentlemen have had a long practical experience in the white lead business. By their patient thought and business industry and sagacity they have established a sterling reputation, and from the amount of capital invested and the character of their manufactures, we have no hesitation in predicting that they will gain still higher distinction in the white lead market.

The Standard White Lead Works is among the most extensive and costly west of the Allegheny range. Its capacity and facilities are not second to any other concern of kindred function, and as the demand for its product now stands it will unquestionably take marked and immediate precedence, as it is found to possess more desirable qualities, being perfectly pure—perfectly white—has more body—and it must soon be preferred above any other brand. In the erection of the Standard White Lead Works regard was had for the future increased demand, and provisions have been made for extending the works from time to time, but for the present they have a capacity greater than the consumptive demand will require for some time to come. The works were recently completed under the personal supervision of Mr. R. F. Bauman, who has had many years experience in the business, having superintended the erection of B. L. Fahnestock & Co.'s works, of which he had the management up to the time of his retirement from that firm, April 1st, 1867, and he now has charge of the manufacturing department of the Standard Works, and it is to be presumed that, aided by increased facilities, his reputation as a Lead manufacturer, so successfully established in his old connections will be fully sustained in the new. The new firm have every facility for meeting any demand made upon it for articles of its manufacture, and we are confident that Messrs. B. B. & Co., will spare neither expense nor pains to give entire satisfaction to those who may favor them with orders. They are guided by the principal that quality should in all cases be the first consideration, and they guarantee for their brand of pure white lead, under a heavy penalty, strict purity and a degree of fineness and whiteness unequalled by any other brand, while their other brands are warranted superior to many now offered as pure lead, and they are put up in attractive style, with showy labels both at the side and top, presenting altogether a very handsome appearance.

There is very much to attract the eye and interest the mind of the visitor to establishments like this which mark our city as the spot where the true heart of our Commonwealth lies. With a view of affording the reader at least a faint idea of the Standard Works, we submit the following facts: The Works are situated in one of the most beautiful parts of Allegheny City, are easy of access from any point, and occupy a piece of ground which measures two hundred and eighty-five by one hundred and forty feet. The outer depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company is located less than one square north of the Works, and the Manchester Passenger Railway cars pass the Works on Bidwell street every few minutes during the entire day. The proximity of the Works to the P., Ft. W. & C. R. R. outer depot affords the firm superior advantages for the shipment of its manufactures to all points traversed by rail or over water courses. The Works are a splendid specimen of our home workmanship as well as a valuable architectural contribution to the city of Allegheny. The buildings are brick and substantially constructed, having all the newest improvements in regard to perfect ventilation and entire security against fire. The main building is sixty by eighty feet, three stories high with an ample dry basement. Adjoining are the boiler, acid, litharge and red lead houses, each thirty by eighty feet; the coroding bed houses twenty-two by one hundred and thirty-three feet, and the stable, twenty-two by twenty-two feet. The most valuable improvements in the machinery used in manufacturing white lead has been introduced into the main building. The heavy machinery is located in the basement, one portion of which is set apart for storing lead, linseed oil, materials used in the Works, etc. A powerful twenty-inch cylinder engine with thirty inch stroke, built by Messrs. Stark, McMahon and Co., of Pittsburgh, is situated midway between the basement and first floor, upon a foundation of mason work. A large heavy fly wheel is attached to the engine, running with it for the purpose of equalizing the power and resistance, and producing uniformity of motion, and is a splendid casting, weighing not less than eight tons. A door way leads from the engine room to the boiler house, which contains two twenty-eight feet boilers, forty-two inches in diameter, built by Messrs. James Thorne & Co., of Pittsburgh. The boilers are surrounded by solid masonry and no danger can possibly occur to the other buildings by any unforeseen accident in the boiler house, and besides this protection there is powerful water communication on every floor of the main building, besides fifty feet of hose on each floor, etc. On the first floor of the main building are five pairs of oil stones, for grinding white lead in oil, having a capacity of one hundred and twenty kegs to the stone, and also one large water stone, the aggregate capacity being about eight tons per day. On the second and third stories are located the other machinery, all new, improved and expensive. The corroding houses, seven in number, with a capacity of one thousand pigs each, equal to five hundred and twenty-five thousand pounds, are erected opposite the main building. And here the carbonate of lead is produced by a process which occupies from ninety days to four months to finish it satisfactorily. The vinegar or acid house is situated east of the main building, and adjoining it is the Red Lead and Litharge house. The product in Red Lead is between one and two tons per week. It is very superior and brilliant and is meeting with a wide demand. In addition to these buildings there are other departments, for casting "buckles," a form in which the lead is conveniently subjected to the vapors by which its conversion into carbonate is effected; the cooperage, carpenter shops, stables, packing, finishing and shipping rooms. The principal entrance to the Standard White Lead Works is through a spacious arch way. On approaching it one will see heavy loaded drays and trucks drawn by fine horses, passing in and out. In the yard to which this entrance leads may be seen piles of superior pig lead from Galena, Illinois; the main building is on the right and the corroding houses on the left. The Superintendent's office is in the main building on the corner of Ohio avenue and Bidwell street, and here may be found samples of all the manufactures of this firm. In the main building the carbonate of lead is received from the corroding houses, pulverized, washed, ground and put up in kegs or cans for shipment. Great care is exercised to obtain perfect corrosion after which the carbonate lead is thrown into shakers and conveyed by elevators to the third floor where it passes through the "bolting" process. It is then thoroughly washed and carried to the water-stone on the first floor, after which it is again taken to the upper floor where it is received into huge tanks, and then passed into the drying pans which are made of copper, heated by steam, and extend around the four sides of the building. These pans will dry thirty-six tons per week. The lead is then passed into bins on the second story, and from thence into upper and lower mixers, and from thence to the oil-stones, where the process is completed and the white lead received into kegs and shipped. Messrs. Beyman, Bauman & Co., exercise the strictest vigilance in manufacturing pure white lead, in order that no deleterious substance be mixed with the carbonate of of lead in its transition state, so that the process secures to the buyer a perfectly pure article, and as such it is guaranteed. The firm attach the following notice to each keg: "Reward—We will give $20 in gold for each and every ounce of adulteration found in white lead (of our manufacture,) bearing our name. We guarantee strict purity, and a degree of fineness and whiteness unequaled by any other brand. Beymer, Bauman & Co." Great quantities of impure lead is brought into the market every year and palmed off as the pure article. It is adulterated lead and prepared in a manner calculated to easily deceive the unwary buyer. The only safe course to pursue is to purchase direct from a first class manufacturing firm, such as this one, who guarantee to deliver a pure article. Messrs. Beyman, Bauman & Co.'s lead is absolutely pure; its whiteness is perfect; it receives through pulverization, which renders it soft and more easily mixed with oil, and it is the most durable compound of this class in the American market.

In addition to the forgoing, Messrs. Beyman, Bauman & Co., have erected in their main building a large putty machine which will produce two tons per day of this article. They use one of William Miller & Co.'s Cincinnati improved hoisting machines and possess various other important facilities. They are contemplating the erection of a keg factory on a portion of their grounds, and they will introduce improved machinery which will perform the desired work in a more skillful manner and with less waste of time and material than can be done by hand. The Standard Works were built by Messrs. Wm. Boyd & Sons; brick work by Thomas Ray, and stone work by Messrs. Buente & Co., all of Allegheny city.

We cannot close our notice of this important manufacturing firm without making some allusion to the individual members of it. We have already intimated that Mr. Bauman is an experienced Lead manufacturer. But the senior member of this new house, Mr. Simon Beymer, has an equally excellent reputation as a master mind in the business. He is perfectly familiar with every detail of it, and is one of the best judges of a pure article in the country. Besides, his long experience in the lead market is of immense value to him in furnishing the trade with a pure article, and such other brands as are required. Mr. Beymer was one of the former partners of B. L. Fahnestock & Co., and was for many years connected with that firm. Mr. Charles F. Wells, late of B. L. Fahnestock Fortune & Co., and for many years Bookkeeper and Cashier with B. L. Fahnestock & Co., is one of the most accomplished and skillful accountants and business men in this community. His long connection with the lead manufacturing business and close attention to and study of its minutia has qualified him in an emminent degree for his new found position. We regard this firm as one of the strongest that could be formed for the manufacture of white lead, etc., and from our personal knowledge of the gentlemen who compose it we know that their rapidly increasing business is conducted upon the most liberal principles. They are widely esteemed for their strict integrity and unexceptionable business habits. In this respect they have long been established among our business men at home and abroad. They are gentlemen of persistent industry and patient devotion to the interests of their trade, and they deserve the highest praise for the exceedingly superior article of lead they have so successfully and extensively introduced into the American market, and in justice to their well applied energies they are deserving of the most liberal patronage. We heartily commend Messrs. Beymer, Bauman & Co., to the notice of the lead trade generally throughout the country, and sincerely wish them a long, prosperous and well rewarded career in the trade in which they have already gained such an enviable distinction.

VITALITY RESTORED.

Incontrovertible Evidence of Dr. Aborn's Skill.

For two years I had been painfully afflicted with a disease of the throat and lungs. Had lost my appetite; was very much reduced in weight; constant pains through my chest; was very weak; life was but a burden to me; in vain I had tried eleven physicians, providentially, three weeks ago I met a gentleman who had been restored to health by the eminent physician, Dr. Aborn, of 134 Smithfield street, and I immediately applied to him and placed myself under his treatment, and I immediately received relief and continued to gain so rapidly until to-day I am entirely cured of all the pain in my chest, and the cough and my appetite perfectly restored, so that now I can eat and digest as much at one meal as I could in three days for two years previous to Dr. Aborn's treatment.

Livingston & Co., Iron Founders, Etc.

Messrs. W. F. Jaquith, L. O. Livingston and W. H. Burt have formed a new firm in this city, under the name of Livingston & Co. These gentlemen are widely known in mercantile and manufacturing circles, and as iron founders and manufacturers of butt and shutter hinges of all sizes, steam and gas fittings, fine and ornamental and machine castings generally, we cordially commend them to our friends everywhere as having the best facilities for producing the most desirable work of this description. As an evidence of their skill we can mention the fact that they received the highest premium at the recent State Fair for fine ornamental and machine castings, and for remarkably life-like medallions of Lincoln and Washington. We remember that the display they made on that occasion elicited the highest praise and attracted marked attention. All their castings in point of finish and smoothness are equal in all respects to the best eastern manufacture. The turn out cotton and woolen mill machinery, castings of various kinds, including castings for the steam and gas fitting trade. Their regular advertisement will be found in another part of the COMMERCIAL. We wish them great success and cordially recommend them to all who may require their aid and who desire to do business with gentlemen of strict integrity and long experience in their department of industry.

Another Remarkable and Speedy Recovery.

The following additional testimony to the efficacy of Dr. Aborn's treatment has been handed us for publication:

I have been afflicted with an affection of the throat and chest and pain in the side, accompanied by a constant cough, for eighteen months. My friends believed that I had the consumption, and acting upon the advice of one of them I applied to Dr. Aborn three weeks ago, and placed myself under his care. I gradually grew better, and am to-day quite restored to health and vigor. The cure has been a remarkable one, and I take pleasure in recommending other sufferers to call at once upon Dr. Aborn.

Invisible Poisons.

The Medicis and the Borgias fortified their system with powerful antidotes against the subtle poisons with which they used to destroy their enemies, and which they feared might one day be employed against themselves. There are invisible poisons, almost as deadly, against which few of us think of taking any precautions. These banes are in the air. When the atmosphere is surcharged with them, as it sometimes is at this season, epidemic fevers ensue. The summer which has just closed has been a most remarkable one. The amount of rain that has fallen has been enormous, and the exhalations from the soil have been, and are, dense and copious almost beyond example. These exhalations exercise a pernicious influence on the vital powers, and predisposes the system to disease. Everywhere people are complaining of unusual debility, lassitude and depression. The symptoms are generally forerunners of an epidemic. Combat them early—before they lapse into something worse—with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most effective antidote to malaria that the vegetable kingdom has ever yielded. Its operation is three-fold—invigorating, depurative and antibilious. Free from any ingredient that is in the slightest degree deleterious to health, and containing the juices and extracts of the rarest medicinal herbs, it is immeasurably superior, as a defensive preparation, to any other tonic, herbal or mineral, at present used in medical practice. A course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is, humanely speaking, a perfect safeguard against intermittent and remittent fevers.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, October 10, 1867.

BUSINESS—The market yesterday was not very active for the best of all reasons. The stock on hand has been reduced down to a very small amount. Most of the sales being made were re-sales of contracts, the seller obtaining the difference in cash. The weather yesterday was changeable. In the afternoon we had rain. Dispatches received from the following points up the Allegheny would indicate a rise before long, as it was raining at Olean, Jamestown, Salamanca and Oil City. Dispatches from the East quote the market as follows: Philadelphia, P. L. S. to White 35¼@36c; S. W. 36@36½c; Crude 20½c gallon. New York firm and active. P. L. S. to W. 35c; S. W. 36c; Crude 20½c. The rates at Oil City were $4 10 and dull. In our market the rates and sales of crude were unchanged; 1,615 barrels changed hands at the following: 1,500 barrels bulk, spot, from tank, 14c; sales also of 115 barrels at the same figure.

REFINED OIL.—The market yesterday was without any special alteration. The current rate for Standard White, October, B. O. was 36@37c. Philadelphia delivery and November at 36c; the sales reported were 2,500 barrels, 500 October 36c; 500 barrels November 35c, and 1,500 barrels in lots October, Philadelphia, B. O. at 37c. The European news was favorable for holders and tended to stiffen the market.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, WEDNESDAY EVENING, October 9, 1867.

There was a fair trade doing to-day, but no general activity manifest in any particular branch. There continues a good demand for Flour, with but light receipts of choice brands, and prices are still tending upward. Wheat continues scarce, and not adequate to supply the demand. There is very little Corn in store, and holders are firm at quotations. There is a good demand for Oats with but light receipts. The Grocery business is not very active, but Sugars are stiffer and an advance of ½c asked on most descriptions. The want of river navigation is severely felt by all branches of trade, and there is no immediate prospect of an early rise.

BUTTER—The receipts are more liberal, but inadequate to supply the demand at prices ranging from 25@30c, as to quality.

CHEESE—We quote Goshen at 17@18c ℔ ℔; Hamburg at 14c, and Factory at 15c ℔ ℔.

EGGS—Sales reported at 20@21c ℔ dozen.

ASHES—Pearls may be quoted at 13c ℔ ℔; refined at 9½c ℔ ℔, and soda ash at 5c ℔ ℔.

APPLES—Receipts fair and prices range from $3 00 @4 00 ℔ bbl as to quality. A very choice article may bring a higher figure.

PEACHES—The season is nearly out and receipts small. We note sales made at prices ranging from $3@3 ℔ box as to quality.

CRANBERRIES—Cultivated are quoted at $13 50@14 ℔ barrel.

BACON—Trade fair but not as active as it has been for some time. We quote Sugar Cured Hams at 24½c, Sides at 16¾@17c and Shoulders at 14½@14¾c ℔ ℔.

MESS PORK—Sales were made at $25 25@25 50 ℔ barrel.

LARD—Tierce lard may be quoted at 15½c ℔ ℔.

LARD OIL—We quote No. 1 extra at $1 15 and No. 2 at 96c ℔ gallon.

POTATOES—Choice Irish potatoes are quoted at 90 @95c ℔ bush, and Jersey sweet at $1 50@5 00 ℔ bbl.

ONIONS—Sales reported at $1 50 ℔ bush.

HAY—Choice timothy sells from country wagons at the city scales at $15@19 ℔ ton.

WHEAT—Receipts very small. The mills are paying $2 40 for choice red winter and $2 50 for white wheat.

OATS—Receipts small. From first hands we quote at 63@65c ℔ bush, and from store at 68@70c ℔ bush.

RYE—Market firm with an upward tendency. Sales reported at $1 40 ℔ bush.

BARLEY—Sales by the car load were made at $1 28@1 35 ℔ bush.

CORN—We note sales at the depot at $1 25 and from store at $1 28@1 30 ℔ bush.

FLOUR—Prices are tending upward on account of light receipts of choice brands—the only kind saleable in this market. There are a variety of brands on the market, and prices vary so much, among dealers, that without knowing the particular quality of the flour it is difficult to give correct prices for either spring or winter wheat brands. The mills of the city have a specified card rate, and in the absence of reported sales of known brands by dealers we quote the Pearl Mill prices, wholesale and retail, for their standard flour:

	—Barrels.—		—Sacks.—
	Wholesale.	Retail.	Wholesale. ℔ 100 lbs.	Retail. ℔ 100 lbs.	℔ 50 lbs.
Ex. Family, Lacock	$12 30	$12 80	$6 00	$6 30	$3 15
Dbl. Ex. F. Pearl Mill	13 10	13 60	6 40	6 70	3 35
Graham	12 30	12 80	6 00	6 30	3 15
Rye Flour	8 50	9 00

FEED—The following are the Pearl Mill Prices:

	Wholesale Per 100 lbs	Retail Per 100 lbs
Bran	$1 40	$1 50
Shipstuffs	1 55	1 70
Middlings	2 20	2 40

WOOL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, WEDNESDAY, October 9, 1867.

We have nothing new to report except the continued dullness. Buyers are not willing to purchase unless at lower prices, whilst on the other hand most wool growers prefer holding their clips rather than accept lower figures. We quote coarse fleece and tub washed at 35@38c; medium 40@42c; fine wool 43@48c.

Provisions at Cincinnati.

The provision market has been devoid of special animation, says the Commercial, of Tuesday, though there has been a fair business done in cut meats, that has caused an advance. Mess pork was kept for several days at $24 00, but the demand was slack, and now it will not bear quotation at better than $23 75, and sales could not be made to any extent above $23 50.

Lard has retained 13½c as a ruling quotation throughout the week, but it will not now sell for more than 13⅝c, though there is no disposition to accept that figure.

The stock of bulk sides is said to have been exhausted. Bulk shoulders have been kept firm at 13c, and are now, with holders asking ¼c more.

Bacon has been taken quite steadily, and indications now are that the stock will be wholly absorbed long before new will be ready. Quotations have advanced materially, closing at 14@14¼c for shoulders, though there was a sale to-day at 13⅞c; 17½@17¾c for clear rib sides, 18¾c for clear sides with very light offerings, and holders asking in most cases 18½@18¾c. The latter of these figures was received in this market to-day on a lot deliverable ahead.

Hams are scarce, sugar-cured would command 25c. Plain are quoted at 20c.

There has been less talk and conjecture in regard to the hog crop than is usual at this season of the year. Nominally, the trading figure is given at $9 00, but holders are asking $9 50@10 00.

Iron, Steel and Nails at Cincinnati.

Iron and Steel—There is not much demand for pig iron, the mills having stopped, on account of a strike for 25c per ton advance on the part of puddlers. Prices of mill and foundry iron are lower. Malleable iron is dull, and a further decline of ¼c ℔ ℔ is anticipated soon. We quote:

Pig—Hot blast foundry iron, $47 00@49 00; mill iron, $43 00@45 00; Tennessee cold blast, $50 00@53 00; Missouri do, $52 00@55 00, and car wheel iron, $64 00 @65 00; blooms, $116 00@120 00 ℔ ton. Manufactured flat, round and square bar, boiled, 4¼c; do charcoal, 6c ℔ ℔. Sheet iron, Nos. 10 to 17, boiled, 6c; do charcoal, 9c ℔ ℔. Horse shoes; $7 50@8 00 ℔ keg. Mule shoes, $8 50@9 00 ℔ keg. Steel—American cast, 19½c; American cast spring steel, 14½c; imported tool steel, 26@27c ℔ ℔.

Nails—There is a fair demand, and prices are lower. We quote:

10d to 60d, $5 50 ℔ keg; 8d to 9d, $5 75; 6d to 7d, $6 00; 4d to 5d, $6 25; 3d, $8 25; 2d, $7 75; fine blued 3d, $7 75; 2d do, $8 75; cut spikes, 3 to 7½ inch, $6 25; casing nails, 50c, and finishing nails, $1 00 ℔ keg more. —Gazette.

Grain in Dayton, Ohio.

From the Journal, of Tuesday, we learn that the late rains have changed the situation, so far as the price of wheat and barley are concerned. Farmers are now satisfied that the crops cannot only be got in seasonably, but that they will grow and thrive. This condition has not only prevented a further rise in grain and flour, but it has created general good feeling, and will be the means of bringing a large quantity of surplus grain on the market. Wheat may be quoted at $2 25@2 35, according to quality; rye remains at $1 20; barley is active at $1 40; corn is dull at $1 00; oats in moderate demand at 55@60c; and flaxseed is inactive at $2 25@2 35. There has been no change in flour for several days.

Hogs and Tobacco in Kentucky.

We learn from the Maysville Bulletin, which paper has been advised by farmers most familiar with the matter, that the protracted drought and other causes will curtail the present crop of tobacco in this section to one-half or less of the ordinary yield.

The frost on Tuesday morning last, we fear, seriously injured the tobacco crop. A gentleman just returned from the back part of Bracken county informs us that he saw a number of fields of tobacco on the low lands of the North Fork that were totally used up by it.

Sales of fat Hogs.—Considerable activity is prevailing in this market at this time. We hear of sales of fat hogs averaging 250 lbs, at prices ranging from 5 to 6⅛c ℔ ℔. Stock hogs are selling from $4 25 to $5 ℔ cwt.

RIVER TELECRAMS.

Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, October 9.—The river is stationary with twenty-nine inches in the canal.

RIVER NEWS.

THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—Business along the landing was not very active, the river being too low. The light draft steamers are still making regular trips. The prospect for a rise is favorable. Dispatches from the Allegheny oil regions announce rain at the following points: Olean, Jamestown, Salamanca and Oil City. A rise during the week would be of immense benefit to a large number of persons. Coal at Louisville is reported scarce, prices having advanced to thirty cents per bushel. This advance would indicate a short supply and winter approaching.

THE MONONGAHELA RIVER.—The improvements on this stream are about completed. The river will be open for navigation as soon as we have water. Parties who ought to know speak in favorable terms of the manner in which the work has been done. The favorite packet, Julia No. 2, Capt. Wm. Coulson, will enter the Pittsburgh and Muskingum river trade as soon as there is sufficient water. She will leave this port on Tuesdays and Zanesville on Fridays. We are pleased to know that the "Julia" will soon be on the track. The "Muskingum Valley" has been shut up from the balance of creation a good while.

PASSING AWAY.—Died, a few days since, Mr. N. Porter, of Shousetown. Mr. Porter had been to New Orleans, as one of the clerks of the Ezra Porter, and on his way up the disease was contracted which carried him off. As a mechanic Mr. Porter had no superior. The last job he finished was the hull of the Great Republic, which stands unrivalled on the western waters; in fact, we have heard many eminent builders pronounce this boat without an equal. Mr. Porter was truly one of nature's noblemen; modest, unassuming and gentlemanly. In all his dealings his word was a sufficient guaranty for any transaction. Those who knew him best respected him the most. He leaves a wide circle of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Truly, death loves shining marks.

THE rates of passage on steamers from Evansville to Cairo has been advanced to $10, and the rate of freight to 50 cents per hundred.

HO! FOR BROWNSVILLE.—The new and light draught steamer Active leaves daily at 5 P. M. positively. This will be satisfactory news to persons who do business on that stream.

IN TOWN.—Captain Adam Jacobs. The Captain looks well and is in the enjoyment of excellent health. Long may it continue. After learning the result of the election on Tuesday he started for home last evening evidently in good humor.

THE work of building the bridge across the Mississippi at St. Louis is progressing most favorably. The bulk head for the coffer dam is now being put down, and it is expected that pumping will commence in a few days.

LOSS OF THE GALLATIN.—Our Omaha dispatches announce the loss on Rondeau Rapids of the steamer Gallatin bound to this port from Benton. We have no further particulars further than that the disaster occurred on the 6th of September.

ACCIDENT TO THE CHAMPION.—Telegraphic dispatches from Cairo announce that the steamer Champion, which left Cincinnati a few days since for New Orleans, had struck a snag above Cairo, and was then discharging her cargo at that point, for the purpose of receiving necessary repairs. We have no information as to the amount of damage.

MOBILE.—The Times, of the 14th, says:

The boats for the Alabama river were obliged, yesterday, to refuse all freights for Selma, the news being that the quarantine would be rigidly enforced. The Selma folks also stopped the trains of one of their railroads at Valley Creek to look for yellow fever.

THE St. Louis Dispatch says: The price paid for the Ned Tracy, sold a few days ago to Captain D. S. Carter to John S. Copelin, Esq., was $12,500, which is regarded as the cheapest boat sold for many years. Her cabin outfit and machinery is worth that, to say nothing of her hull, which is staunch and good, being rebuilt a year or so ago at a cost of $11,000.

THE following are the rates of freight from St. Louis to New Orleans:

Flour, potatoes and onions, 50c; pork, $1 75; whisky, $3 per bbl; beer, per bbl, $2 50; corn, 35c, per sack; hay and other heavy freight, 10c per 100 pounds; light do, $1; way freight, 10c per bbl and 5c per sack, and 100 pounds higher than the above.

MEMPHIS, October 7.—The weather is clear and cool. There is no change in the river channel. The depth to Cairo is scant five feet, and two feet in the Arkansas; there is scant three feet and a half in the White river to Augusta. Business is moderate. The receipts of new cotton are rapidly increasing. The Skark lost one of her barges, loaded with flour, &c., near Horn Lake Landing. The little Star, with two barges of staves in tow, struck a log near Helena, and sunk with one barge. She is a total loss.

CAIRO, October 7.—The Fanny Brandeis had a slim trip for Cairo, but had discharged a large quantity of way freight. She reports that the Ida Rees is unable to go over Shawneetown bar. The Tempest is aground at the Bar. The Bertha is aground at Walker's. The Nashville came out light from Paducah, and goes to St. Louis to hunt business. The Paducah packet brought twenty-four hhds. tobacco for New York. The river fell one inch. The weather is clear. Mercury, sixty-two. The last arrival reports four feet seven inches at Phillips's.

ST. LOUIS, October 7.—Business improving. Numerous steamers daily move out and in, carrying and bringing immense quantities of flour, grain, &c. The river is slightly on the swell, and above the rivers are, no doubt, undergoing an enlargement by reason of the recent rains which were widely dispersed. Rates of freight to New Orleans, on Saturday, were low and unsettled. A new schedule will be established to-day. The Muscatine came through from St. Paul, but had to lighten over the lower rapids. The Ned Tracy entered the Memphis trade.

LOUISVILLE, October 7.—Coal has advanced to thirty cents by the barge load. There is nearly three feet on New Albany bar. Business dull. The steamers in port display flags at half mast to-morrow, in memory of Captains Smith and O'Rielly, recently deceased at New Orleans. The Ida Rees is due. The Marine Association elected Messrs. Levi Woolfolk, Judge Varbie and Neal, delegates to the Cincinnati Steamboat Convention, on the 8th; the form of the bill of lading is to be adopted. The Tablemount has got away safe. The Ella Faber has been raised. The Starlight has got her barges over French Island bar.

EVANSVILLE, IND., October 7.—Weather clear and cool, with frost this morning. Port-list—Mary Erwin and Chattanooga, from Cairo; Ollie Sullivan, from Owensborough; Rob Roy, to Cairo. The Mary Erwin has quit the Cairo trade, and left at 5 o'clock for Cincinnati. The Rob Roy came up to the wharf to-day, and is about trying the perils of sand bars below. The Charleston is just rounding the point above, having got off French Island bar Sunday morning. Captain Miller, of the Minneola, left for Cincinnati this evening. The Bermuda is on top of a dry bar, not a drop of water around her.

BY the steamer Belle we learn that on Saturday afternoon a party of six men and women started out in a skiff, at New Richmond, to row across the river. The skiff was old and had a number of sacks of wheat aboard. The additional weight of the party proved too much, and it was swamped in mid-stream. A young man named Werks swam ashore, but seeing the women struggling to keep from sinking, and the other men not able to save themselves, he started out again, as advised by the pilot of a steamboat going up, who shouted to him to do so. Werks reached the party struggling in the water, and, taking hold of an old German woman, tried to take her to shore, but she held him so tight they both sunk together. The rest of the party were picked up by a row-boat, which came to their assistance.

STERN-WHEEL BOATS AND INSURANCE.—The Mobile Times, of a late date, says:

The Board of Underwriters, at a late meeting, promoted all stern-wheel steamers that can stand inspection, to be first-class boats, the side-wheelers hereafter to have no advantage over them. Insurance on good stern-wheel boats down stream to be the same rate as on side-wheelers.

This is as it should be; if steamboats cannot pass equal one with the other they should not be allowed to pass at all. Extra rates only embarrass and confuse. The rules should be "good" and if not have nothing to do with them. We have a number of steamers plying on our Western waters that are classed at an extra rate, and the owners of these vessels can by taking freights and passengers at a reduced rate jeopardise both.

Land Sliding into the River—Approaching Catastrophe at Vicksburg.

From the Vicksburg Herald, of the 26th, we have the following:

A portion of the landing has been sinking considerably recently, we understand. We are informed by Mr. Murphy, the city street overseer, that since the late rise a slide of four feet has taken place, and that nearly four inches of it occurred day before yesterday. The slide ranges from above and immediately in the rear of the Washington Hotel down the north side of China street to Mulberry, across and up Mulberry to Mr. Klein's building, near Crawford street, and meandering north and east to the river above the Morris House. On both sides of Mulberry street, between China and Clay, a crack of several inches in width appears, with the body of the street sunken from the sides several inches.

A number of fine brick buildings and stores have been erected lately down there, which have been affected by the slide. The fine brick store of Mr. T. J. Fletcher, which received so much attention in the laying of the foundation, as well as its general construction, has cracked several inches at the northeast end. What is the cause of this freak we are unable to say. It has been sinking for a number of years, but has never before manifested so much perspicuousness. A portion of Memphis seems to be similarly affected, from representations of the Memphis press, but which is attributed to a channel which is supposed to undermine it. There is no danger, however, of its being unbedded at an early day, if ever, as the ground is over a hundred feet above the elevation of the river.
